STOVE EXPLODES IN EAST ST. LOUIS HOTEL, FOUR MEN PERISH IN FIRE

Overheating Blamed — Two Other Men and Four Women Assisted to Safety — One Is Overcome.

Four men, one of them 92 years old, died early today in a fire which apparently started from an overheated oil stove in the Jones Hotel, 137 St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis. A woman resident was overcome by smoke and is in the hospital.

The stove, in a second-floor corridor of the two-story building, exploded in a mass of flames. Ten of the 22 rooms were occupied. Two men and four women, including Mrs. Lessie Jones, operator of the hotel, were assisted to safety by firemen.

Dead are:

Charles Henneretter, 92.

Emery Zike, 70, a retired railroad employe.

C. D. Payne, 70, a pensioner.

Fred Haberberger, 56, a tavern porter.

The fire was discovered about 3 a.m. by Mrs. Mary Davis, sister of Mrs. Jones, who lived at the hotel. Mrs. Davis awakened Mrs. Jones by pounding on her door and shouting, "The hotel is on fire."

Helped by Firemen.

Mrs. Jones went in search of another sister, Mrs. Madge Trimm, a visitor from Corinth, Miss., and found her in her room. Mrs. Jones assisted Mrs. Trimm to the head of the stairs, where a fireman helped both women outside.

Flames burst through the roof, and were visible for blocks. Seven fire companies responded to the alarm, pouring water into the building for two hours. About 100 spectators were attracted to the scene.

Three bodies, severely burned, were found in their charred rooms. The fourth man died in the corridor where he apparently was overcome when attempting to reach the stairs. The bodies were removed to undertaking establishments, awaiting relatives.

Fire Chief Gerald Fallan esitmated damage to the hotel equipment at $5000, with $10,000 to the building, which is owned by Omar Hampton, 569 Washington place, a real estate operator. The second floor was completely burned out and there was water damage to the lobby and storage space on the first floor.

Treated for Hysteria.

Mrs. Davis, 26, is in St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, suffering rom smoke inhalation. Mrs. Trimm, 38, was treated for hysteria and smoke inhalation, and released.

There was no central heating plant in the hotel, rooms and corridor being heated by electric or oil units, firemen said.

Inspectors Nearby.

Chief Fallan told the Post-Dispatch two Fire Department inspectors visited establishments in the neighborhood of the hotel yesterday, but did not reach the hotel.

"If they had found the space heaters they would have closed the place," Fallan declared.

The chief added, however, that, as a hotel, the establishment is not licensed by the city and no inspection is actually required. When Mrs. Jones sought a rooming house license in 1955, the Fire department inspected the premises and noted several fire hazards, records show. These included accumulation of rubbish, a defective flue, loose wallpaper and openings in the walls.

Corrections recommended by the department were installation of ropes which could be

NEW BILL WOULD REDUCE NUMBER OF STOP SIGNS

Alderman Introduces Measure Affecting 4-Way Stops at 297 Intersections.

Reduction of four-way stops at 297 intersections to two-way stops, and elimination of another 195 school stop signs are proposed in a bill introduced in the Board of Aldermen yesterday by Alderman A. J. Cervantes, chairman of the board's traffic committee.

Cervantes said the bill was intended to carry out those recommendations of the $35,000 Barton survey of traffic and stop sign problems that could be put into effect at once without major expense.

The four-way stops which would be changed to two-way stops are mainly at intersections of major streets with less heavily traveled cross streets. The stops on the major street would be eliminated.

In addition, two-way stops now at 44 other intersections would be reversed to place the stop against the lesser traffic stream rather than the major movement.

At 140 intersections where school stop signs combine with existing two-way stops to create four-way halts during the periods when school children are going to and from school, the bill would eliminate the school stops.

Adult Guards Omitted.

The Barton survey recommended that adult supervision be used in lieu of school stops at these intersections, but Cervantes would leave the provision of adult guards to another bill or administrative action.

An additional 41 school stops at the same type of intersection would be eliminated outright. The Barton Report found these could be dropped without providing adult supervision to replace them.

At 13 intersections where school stops alone exist, the stops would also be eliminated. This would mean, however, the provision of adult guards if the Barton Report is to be followed. The school stop at one other intersection would be eliminated outright, since the report found it was unnecessary.

Cervantes's bill would create four-way stops at eight intersections where presently there are school stops and regular two-way stops.

The bill also would replace two-way stop signs at 28 intersections with "Yield-Right-of-Way" signs. The latter would call for a stop at the intersection only if a vehicle

SPUTNIK-LIKE BEEP-BEEP LAID TO TELEPRINTER

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—A beep-beep was heard over Europe and the United States today, but the Swedish government said it was caused by an idling Russian teleprinter, not by a new Soviet sputnik.

The views of the Swedish government's radio monitors coincided with those of the British Broadcasting Corp. BBC earlier had said the beep might be a teleprinter idling.

A spokesman for Sweden's Enkoping station said the signal was heard at 20.025 megacycles, for hours but was traced to a "typical Russian frequency shift teleprinter transmitter." He said the printer was now sending clear text in Russian after being idle for about three hours.

In the United States, ham operator Francis Strait of Columbus, O., said he heard "an awfully familiar beep-beep-beep" near the 20-megacycle band from 4:10 to 4:15 a.m.

Russia's Sputnik II has not been heard for several weeks and its radio power apparently has failed. Sputnik I is presumed to have fallen from its orbit.

GAMBLING RAID ON ANGLICAN CHURCH PROPERTY

LONDON, Jan. 11 (UP)—Scotland Yard crashed a high society party yesterday and arrested the wife and stepson of a baronet for keeping a "common gaming house" in a building owned by the Church of England.

They also netted a Who's Who of the young and the beautiful in London society.

The scene of the raid was the apartment of 31-year-old John Aspinall, stepson of retired army officer Sir George Francis Osborne.

On hand were Aspinall's mother, 54-year-old Lady Mary Grace Osborne, and 23 others. Most were young and well-known in the upper echelons of British life. A number were titled. Others were the children of wealthy, influential parents. All were taken to court yesterday for an initial hearing and were released on bail.

LAVA POURS FROM VOLCANO

Violent Eruption Off New Guinea Coast First in 78 Years

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 11 (UP)—The volcano on Manan island, off the New Guinea coast, erupted violently today for the first time in 78 years, reports received here said today.

The reports said lava had rolled down the mountainside to within a few hundred feet of sea level. The island's 3340 inhabitants left the immediate vicinity of the volcano last month following an increase in its activity.

U.S. Can't Recover $2528 Tax Refund Sent by Error in 1946

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—An 80-year-old engineering consultant has won a 10-year fight to keep a $2528 income tax refund which the Internal Revenue Bureau sent him in 1945 by mistake.

A ruling by United States District Judge Robert A. Inch said yesterday that the two-year statute of limitations barred the Government from recovering the money from Louis W. Williams of Brooklyn.

"I spent the money a long time ago," Williams said.

The Government had sued for a total of $3,024, including an additional $496 which the Government claims he should have paid in 1945 income taxes, but did not.

Assistant United States Attorney Myron Friedman said the ruling might be appealed. He said it apparently left the Government so it could not even tax Williams on his windfall. Friedman gave this account of the case:

On March 14, 1945, Williams mailed in his 1944 income tax return, showing a gross income of $8020, and various deductions, leaving a tax due of $496.12.

However, Williams, who figured his own return, credited himself with a $3,024 business loss. He then subtracted the $496 tax due from the loss, and listed the remaining $2,528 as the refund owed him by the Government.

The government claimed that this unorthodox computation, which would have the government paying Williams for his business loss, slipped by auditors, and on Jan. 9, 1946, the refund was mailed to him.

On June 3, 1948, however, the mistake was discovered and the first of a series of letters demanding repayment were sent. This eventually led to a suit filled Aug. 11, 1955.

It was tried without a jury. Judge Inch, in a seven-page ruling, said that since more than nine years went by between the time of the mistaken refund and filing of the suit, the statute of limitations barred any recovery.

ARMY WASTES $12,000,000 ON DEFECTIVE ARMS

To Destroy Foreign-Made Grenades for Which GAO Says Too Much Was Paid.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The General Accounting Office says the Army has decided to destroy $12,000,000 worth of defective foreign-made grenades which GAO says the United States paid too much for in the first place.

The agency also reports that military sea transports are sailing with empty troop space because service men are being flown overseas.

The reports from the GAO, watchdog over Government spending, were submitted to Congress in the congressional recess. They were made public after the new session began this week.

Involved in one report were high explosive anti-tank and practice rifle grenades ordered by the United States Army in Europe from a Belgian firm, S. A. Belge de Mecanique et d'Armement and a Portuguese subsidiary. More than $45,000,000 worth of orders for the grenades were said to have been placed over a three-year period, starting in the Korean War.

Tests Revealed Duds.

The GAO said the Army received one report in 1954 that 32 per cent of some of the grenades tested were duds. A 1955 investigation, GAO said, found the grenades became so dangerous after being dropped in shipping that they might blow up in the course of normal handling.

The Army said it decided to destroy the defective grenades that year. By Jan. 31, 1957, it said some 883,000 of the grenades still on hand would be destroyed within 18 months.

GAO said Army purchasers considered the price too high, but went ahead with procurement on the basis of urgent need. The Belgian firm held patent rights on the grenades, which were said to have superior armor penetrating capabilities compared with the then-standard United States model.

The Army finally agreed to a $125,248 refund offer from the Belgian company, GAO said. The Army decided the grenades had been supplied according to contract specifications and that there were insufficient grounds for action against the company under contract provisions.

Urges Early Testing.

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, head of GAO, recommended that the Army consider alternatives when a product is available only at excessive prices. He also said tests for items ordered on a crash basis should be made as soon as possible so as to hold down production orders until the items prove satisfactory.

A Sept. 5 GAO report, following an audit of the Military Sea Transportation Service for fiscal 1954 and 1955, found "poor utilization of troop space on MSTS passenger vessels," although it said cabin space has been "well utilized." It did not say who, if anyone, used the cabins besides troops.

One cause for empty troop space on the ships, GAO said, was heavy movement of troops by air—a problem it said the Navy has presented to the Joint Chiefs of Staff because over-all Defense Department air-vs.-ocean transport policy is involved.

The Comptroller General suggested that some troopships be inactivated because they have had to lie idle for long periods. The Navy said it had to keep up mobilization requirements "in view of the unstable international situation."

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 11 (AP)—Poisonous tropical jellyfish invaded Sydney beach yesterday and stung about a thousand swimmers.

ATOM-FREE ZONE IN FINLAND AND SCANDINAVIA IS URGED BY SOVIET

Extending Proposed Central European Area Suggested by Bulganin in Note to Premier of Denmark.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 11 (AP)—Premier Bulganin of Russia suggested today an atom-free zone throughout Scandinavia and Finland.

In a note to Premier Hansen of Denmark he said this would extend the proposed zone in central Europe—where atom weapons and missiles should be barred — throughout northern Europe.

He noted that so far neither Denmark, Norway, Sweden—comprising Scandinavia proper—nor Finland has acquired atom weapons.

U.S. NOT EXPECTED TO RULE OUT TALKS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower is expected to send Soviet Premier Bulganin a message this weekend holding open the door to an eventual summit conference, but rejecting Bulganin's bid for such a session within three months.

Mr. Eisenhower's reply has been co-ordinated with those going from the government chiefs of Britain, France and other allied nations in response to a series of notes Bulganin sent free-world leaders in December. It is understood the replies also will cover the substance of new Bulganin messages to NATO leaders and heads of many other governments this week.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles gave the guidelines of United States policy at a news conference yesterday. He said no summit meetings should be held—as Bulganin proposed Thursday — within two or three months. But Dulles left open the possibility of some future top level session provided "there is adequate preparation for it and a reasonable assurance that it will accomplish some desirable result."

Pravda Attacks NATO Plan.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda today rejected western suggestions for a foreign ministers' meeting instead of a summit conference.

In an article broadcast by the Moscow radio, Pravda said a foreign minister's meeting "would be more likely to heap fresh obstacles in the way of a summit conference."

The Communist party paper said a summit conference could be a success if nations taking part showed "a sense of reality."

Pravda added that negotiations must be conducted "from a position of reason and not one of strength. . . The tone of the NATO summit conference last month was to prepare to negotiate from strength.

"The U.S.S.R.'s sincere desire to reach a realistic agreement acceptable to both sides," Pravda said, "is clear from the fact that the Soviet government does not insist on discussing proposals to which the leaders of NATO are at present unwilling to agree.

"These more radical measures can be discussed at a later stage, after a certain minimum of international trust has been established," Pravda said.

Most western leaders feel that a foreign ministers' meeting is the place for the first of the two levels of meetings mentioned by Pravda.

Big Three Rejects Plea.

The western big three—Britain, France and the United States—rejected Bulganin's bid in separate statements yesterday. Replies from five unspecified countries also were discussed by the N.A.T.O. council in Paris.

Government sources in London said all the NATO partners already are agreed that Bulganin's terms for a top-level meeting in two or three months without preparation are unacceptable.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told a political rally Britain is "ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union at any time," but that the starting point should be a foreign ministers meeting on disarmament.

In Rome, the Italian Communist organ L'Unita said in a Moscow dispatch that Bulganin's note to Italian Premier Adome Zoli proposed a non-aggression pact between the two nations in addition to the standard summit proposal. The official text of the note has not been published.

(A government spokesman in Bonn was quoted by the New York Times as saying Bulganin's latest communication to Chancellor Adenauer contained military threats against West Germany.

(The spokesman, Felix von Eckardt, said he had no details of the threats but he understood they referred to the possible effects of hydrogen weapons in West Germany in the event of war.)

GEN. SCHRIEVER ATTACKS UNIFIED SPACE PROGRAM ADVANCED BY PRESIDENT

GAVIN REBUKED FOR ESTIMATE OF CASUALTIES FROM H-BOMB

Berated by Pentagon Superiors for Telling Senators That 'Several Millions' Would Be Killed.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—The real reason Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin got in hot water with high defense officials was his estimate that "several million casualties" would result if a powerful nuclear bomb was dropped on the Eurasian land mass, it was indicated last night.

In testimony made public by the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, Gen. Gavin said last Monday that "the roof fell in" after his casualty estimate, given in a secret session to the Symington Airpower subcommittee in 1956, was cleared by the Pentagon and published.

Gen. Gavin had gone to Europe directly after the 1956 testimony. Reviewing the incident, he told the preparedness subcommittee Monday:

"When I got back, I was under a great deal of crossfire about this. Finally, an assistant secretary of defense wrote a memorandum that took the form of what they call the 'long green.'"

'In Trouble With Everybody.'

The "long green," Gen. Gavin testified Monday, included a charge that Gen. Gavin had told the airpower subcommittee "something that wasn't true."

The general, who has decided to retire from the Army on March 31, testified Monday that "I had in fact told the truth. . . . By then I was in trouble with everybody, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, my own chief of staff, and so on."

The "long green," apparently Pentagonese for a stiff reprimand, was finally withdrawn from Gen. Gavin's file after it was determined that his estimate of "several million" casualties was correct.

His decision to retire came after a prospective assignment to a high post was formally denied him Dec. 23. Several members of the preparedness panel, headed by Senator Lyndon B. Johnson (Dem.), Texas, have hinted that they thought this was in effect a form of retribution for Gen. Gavin's outspoken testimony to congressional committees. Until release last night of his Monday testimony, there had been no hint that his casualty estimates of two years ago were involved.

Cleared by Defense Dept.

Defense officials were obviously not eager to publicize the catastrophic force of American nuclear weapons and their possible fall-out effects in Western Europe under certain wind and weather conditions.

Gen. Gavin's testimony to the airpower subcommittee, then headed by Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, was given in a secret session and his estimate was not made public until after it had been cleared by the Defense Department.

The general's testimony Monday brought demands from subcommittee members for absolute protection of high officers who testify to the facts behind closed doors.

ACCUSED KILLER OF 3 AMERICANS SHOT IN IRAN

Bandit Leader Dadshah Dies in Battle With Police Near Pakistan Border.

TEHRAN, Jan. 11 (AP)—Bandit leader Dadshah, accused of murdering three Americans last March, was killed by gendarmerie forces today in a battle near the Pakistan border, police reported.

He had been sought since the three were killed in Iran's southeastern desert. They were Kevin M. Carroll, 37 years old, of Issaquah, Wash., a Point IV area development adviser; his wife, Anita, 35, and Brewster A. Wilson, 35, of Portland, Ore., a specialist of the Near East Foundation and contractor for the International Co-operation Administratoin in Iran.

Gendarmerie commander Gen. Aligholi Golpira, announcing Dadshah's death, said four of the bandit's aids were captured in the shooting fight near Haft Kuh. He said the fighting lasted several hours.

Ambushed in March.

Iran's "desert fox" and his band ambushed the Americans March 24 as they drove in two station wagons across wild mountainous country.

The bandits knifed to death Carroll, Wilson and two Iranian men in the party. They kidnaped Mrs. Carroll.

The government broadcast offers of amnesty and unlimited ransom to Dadshah for her safe return. He replied that she was safe. The government was trying to get in touch with him when her body was found six miles from the ambush scene. She had been shot.

Dadshah was a camel breeder who engaged in occasional holdups in a remote section of Iran. He was more than 60 years old.

He was said to have a following of about two dozen at the time of the murders. When gendarmes began hunting him, the gang split up.

Had Eluded Traps.

Golpira had personally supervised the hunt for Dadshah and his nomad band. Several times they were reported encircled in rocky mountainous regions along the Pakistan border. Each time Dadshah managed to slip through the net.

Dadshah's brother, Ahmed Shah was captured in Pakistan not long after the March 24 ambush. He is now in a Tehran jail awaiting trial.

'Science-Military' State Dinner Added to White House Calendar

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — The White House added something new to its social annals yesterday—a "science-military" state dinner.

The White House announced a new schedule, different in some respects from the one interrupted by the President's slight stroke late in November. Instead of three state dinners and two big receptions, there will be six state dinners, all of which the President can take sitting down.

The new "science-military" function obviously was created to modernize White House ways and give social-prestige acknowledgement to the outer-space era. It will be held Feb. 4.

The White House refused to elaborate on plans for this event. Only the final guest list will show how much token recognition to science can be given at a table which also will include the military and which has a maximum capacity of around 100.

Coupled with the "science-military" dinner was the reinstatement of the diplomatic dinners which have not been held since the 1954-55 social season.

Diplomatic dinners have to be divided because of the limitations of White House dining space.

The new program of state functions for the 1958 winter season is:

Jan. 16—Dinner for the Vice President and Cabinet.

Jan. 23 — Dinner for the Speaker.

Jan. 30 — Dinner for the Chief Justice and Supreme Court.

Feb. 4 — Science-military dinner.

Feb. 10 — Diplomatic dinner No. 1.

Feb. 11—Diplomatic dinner No. 2.

The announcement said a musicale would follow each dinner to which additional official guests will be invited.

SAYS AIR FORCE ALREADY IS SET TO REACH MOON AT 'EARLY DATE'

New Agency Would Mean Wasteful Duplication, Asserts Latest Recruit in 'Revolt of Generals.'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The top Air Force missile man says President Eisenhower's plan for a unified space agency would wastefully duplicate Air Force capabilities already in existence.

Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever added last night that the Air Force is ready to undertake "at a relatively early date" such space age projects as unmanned reconnaissance trips to the moon, Mars and Venus.

Schriever's testimony was given to the Senate preparedness subcommittee behind closed doors Thursday, the day Mr. Eisenhower informed Congress in his State of the Union message that "all the anti-missile and satellite technology undertaken within the Department of Defense" would be concentarted in the new Advanced Research Projects Agency.

The testimony of Schriever, who also expressed other criticism of missile and satellite policies, was made public last night by the Air Force in a departure from normal procedure. Generally in such cases, the Pentagon permits the congressional committee to release testimony.

'Revolt of the Generals.'

Schriever was the third high military officer to criticize Administration defense planning this week in what some have tagged "the revolt of the generals." Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, chief of Army Research and Development, said he was retiring March 31 because the Army was deteriorating rapidly and "I can't get anything done about it." He said that for the past four years Army strength and appropriations had been whittled down. Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of starr, told the Subcommittee Mr. Eisenhower had not asked for enough money for a planned step-up in work on 5000-mile range intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Schriever's opposition to Mr. Eisenhower's space program was called "unfortunate" by Senator Ralph E. Flanders (Rep.), Vermont, today.

"It seems the President showed leadership in straightening out the armed forces, and if his first move is publicly condemned by one of the services I think that is unfortunate," Flanders said.

Just Being Frank.

Other Senators said Schriever was just being frank and airing a serious disagreement.

Senators Leverett Saltonstall (Rep.), Massachusetts, John Stennis (Dem.), Mississippi and Estes Kefauver (Dem.), Tennessee, praised Schriever for what they considered a candid expression of his views.

Stennis said Schriever's testimony had been "not critical, just frank." He added he thought it "rather odd" that the Air Force had released the testimony, but he would not speculate on the reasons.

Kefauver said, "Gen. Schriever was just doing what was good for the country—expressing his individual opinion . . . there are serious disagreements and I think it is good to air them."

Saltonstall said he thought the Air Force had been "perfectly frank" in releasing the general's testimony, and added that the Defense Department is attempting to declassify all such material it possibly can.

He said he though it "makes good sense" to place ultimate operation of space weapons in the hands of the Air Force.

Jupiter-Thor Controversy.

Schriever criticized the Defense Department decision to use both the Army Jupiter and the Air Force Thor, 1500-mile range intermediate range ballistic missiles. He thinks greater missile strength can be achieved sooner by concentrating on the Thor.

The General said also the Air Force could immediately undertake several space projects by modifying the Thor. He said these included putting a satellite into orbit and making unmanned reconnaissance trips to the moon, Mars and Venus "at a relatively early date."

So far, the Air Force has had no role in this country's effort to launch an earth satellite. The Navy had sole responsibility for this until after the

HOUSE UNIT SET TO APPROVE BILL FOR EMERGENCY ARMS SPENDING

Measure Provides $548,226,000 for Air Force in Carrying Out Eisenhower's Defense Program.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee was ready today to give quick approval to a bill authorizing major parts of President Eisenhower's emergency program for space age defense.

Chairman Carl Vinson (Dem.), Georgia, announced after a session that the group was "in thorough agreement" with a half-billion dollar request made by Air Force leaders.

Vinson said the committee ordered a technical revision of the bill to make it more specific, so it will be ready for a committee vote Monday. He said the revised legislation would still cover every penny the Pentagon sought, with one exception.

The committee sidetracked a requested $1,444,000 authorization sought to improve roads at the United States Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo. Vinson said, "We knocked it out because that's not an emergency." He said the item would be considered later in a regular bill dealing with military public works.

That would place at $548,226,000 the bill's total as it heads for committee approval.

The amount, all for the Air Force, is part of $1,260,000,000 in new defense funds that Eisenhower has asked on an emergency basis for this fiscal year ending June 30.

The bill before the House committee would authorize:

1. Further development of the SAGE system, which blends electronic detecting devices and mechanical brains to provide semi-automatic and lightning fast guidance for aircraft, missiles and rockets called into action against approaching enemy planes. For this, the Air Force is asking for $29,670,000.

2. Work on a system to flash warnings of oncoming enemy ballistic missiles, $189,000,000.

3. Facilities to make possible wider dispersal of bombers of the Strategic Air Command, $194,000,000; alert facilities for SAC, $24,600,000.

4. A total of $112,400,000 to develop and procure long-range ballistic missiles.

Details of these proposals were clothed in military secrecy and the hearing was closed to press and public.

The House Appropriations Committee already is conducting hearings on the entire $1,260,000,000 request, which also includes funds to build missile sites and missile-firing submarines.

A Pentagon spokesman said specific authorization was needed only for the Air Force items, so that these alone were being brought in legislative form before the Armed Forces Committee.

JET AGE TO BRING AIRPORT PROBLEM, SURVEY REVEALS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) —Scheduled airlines reported yesterday that United States airports will be wholly inadequate if air traffic expands at anything like the present rate over the next 10 years.

The jet age will "accentuate all problems," the airlines said in a survey made public by the Air Transport Association. Large airports will be the heaviest hit, the report said, but smaller fields will also feel the pressure.

Greater advances are being made in aircraft and traffic control systems than in airports themselves, Brig. Gen. Milton W. Arnold told a press conference. Arnold, a retired Air Force officer, is A.T.A.'s vice president for operations and engineering.

A survey of flights touching 500 airports showed delays in 3241 of some 60,000 reports on takeoff. En route and arrival operations in the first five months of 1957. These holdups amounted to more than 423 hours. The survey brought out that already occupied taxi and runways caused more delays than any other single condition.

NOTE IN BOTTLE RULED OUT AS EVIDENCE IN PAMIR CASE

LUEBECK, Germany, Jan. 11 (UP)—A message in a bottle was ruled out as evidence in the Pamir disaster inquiry by the maritime board yesterday.

The windjammer Pamir sank in a mid-Atlantic hurricane last Sept. 21, with the loss of 80 of its 86 crew members.

Board chairman Eckert Luhmann ruled in effect that the message, found last week on the English coast, was a fake. The unsigned bottle message, phrased as though a crew member had written it, blamed Capt. Johannes Diebitsch for the sinking.

Fastest Man Is Late.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Jan. 11 (AP)—The man often called "the world's fastest human being" was three hours and 10 minutes late last night. Air Force Col. John Paul Stapp, whose rocket sled tests earned him the title, was delayed by automobile trouble on his way to address a graduate group on the campus of Texas A. & M. college.

Russians launched two Sputniks last fall; then the Army was ordered into the program. The Navy Vanguard's first try at launching a test satellite failed Dec. 6.

Last Dec. 13, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy disclosed plans for the new space agency. He said it would operate under a single manager and would not be controlled by any one service.

Air Force's Reaction.

The Air Force then announced establishment of its own directorate of astronautics. That plan immediately was cancelled at the direction of the Defense Department, which called the Air Force action premature.

Schriever said: "I believe that any program to develop a separate astronautics agency would result in duplication of capabilities already exsiting in the Air Force ballistic missiles programs, and at a cost in funds and time similar to that already expended on these programs."

He urged initiating projects now if the nation is to lead in space technology in what he called the "prime" 1965-70 period.

"Many far-reaching potential capabilities are apparent as we look more into the future and develop the possibilities of thermonuclear propulsion and payloads up to hundreds of tons," he said.

At yesterday's subcommittee hearing, Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, director of the Army missiles program, said the Army had offered to put up a satellite in September 1956, but that the Pentagon rejected that offer, as he said it did a second proposal in the spring of 1957.

Medaris' testimony was disclosed to reporters by Stennis, who quoted the General as saying the Army originally had been denied any new funds for its Jupiter project in the current fiscal year, which started last July 1. Later, Medaris testified, he got a small part of his request from the President's emergency fund.

Rickover Testimony.

R. Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, known as the father of the atomic submarine, told the subcommittee Monday that if a military man wanted to push a new idea, the first thing he had to do was decide "he is going to get his head chopped off ultimately."

That is why, Rickover said in testimony made public yesterday, he always selects bright young officers and civilians for his own staff, just after they complete college.

The idea is to get men who have not yet got into the habit of kow-towing to military higher-ups, Rickover explained.

If young persons have learned the traditional habits of pleasing superiors who control promotions and assignments, Rickover said they were of little use in new research development.

"It is very difficult for any youngsters brought up that way to realize that technical facts know no seniority," he said. "Nature knows no seniority.

"An older person like myself, I have no chances of promotion any more, so it does not make any difference what I do. I can get by with it."

Passed Over for Promotion.

Rickover was almost forced to accept mandatory retirement in 1953 after Navy selection boards twice passed him over for promotion from captain to rear admiral. President Eisenhower approved a proposal that he be retained on active duty after Congress members had protested his lack of promotion, and he finally was advanced to flag rank in 1954.

Rickover said he was given a free hand on designing and building the first atomic submarine because "there were so many people who were certain the project would fail, and they did not want to be associated with it."

Even so, Rickover indicated he was ont given must co-operation, saying:

"I was kept on, and I was assigned this job all by myself, and given an office in an ex-ladies powder room."

The Admiral said he ignores seniority in assigning persons on his nuclear staffs.

"I assign jobs entirely on the basis of ability," he said. "The man's age, rank, whether he is an officer or a civilian does not matter."

The Admiral said one of the big troubles with the Pentagon is that many capable officers and officials have great powers of authority "but no responsibility" for their decisions.

The subcommittee continues its hearings next week.

Other Developments.

There were these other developments yesterday:

1. The Army was ordered to rush development of a solid fueled ballistic missile to replace the liquid fueled Redstone, developed at the Army's missile agency at Huntsville, Ala. The Redstone, designed for use against ground targets, has a 200-mile range. The Army was ordered to "proceed immediately and on a top priority basis" on the solid fuel model.

2. The Air Force said top technicians were being drafted for the Strategic Air Command in an effort to get SAC missile units operational. And the Army disclosed a step-up in the training of Nike Hercules crews at Fort Bliss, Tex. The Nike Hercules is an anti-aircraft weapon.

3. Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, said that of the $225,000,000,000 spent by this country on defense since the Korean War "at least 50 billions if not 75 billions . . . was waste."

Symington, a former Secretary of the Air Force, offered that as a personal estimate at a session of the Senate preparedness subcommittee. He did not say how he thought the money was wasted except to attribute it to "duplication and inefficiency."

FROST DAMAGE TO FLORIDA FRUIT PUT AT 20 PCT.

LAKELAND, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP)—December frost damage to Florida fruit was estimated to be as high as 20 per cent but growers consoled themselves today with a prospect of premium prices for oranges and grapefruit that escaped harm.

Average prices already were up for both raw and processed citrus, although damaged fruit brought little more than production cost. Growers with high quality fruit held onto it in anticipation of a handsome return in the market when the supply becomes shorter.

The United States Department of Agriculture estimated yesterday that 22,000,000 boxes of Florida oranges were lost in the record December freeze. It wrote off 4,000,000 boxes of grapefruit and 1,500,000 boxes of tangerines. In its last previous estimate of Florida citrus, the USDA looked for a record 102,000,000-box orange crop, 36,000,000 boxes of grapefruit and 4,500,000 boxes of tangerines.

Many citrus men thought the orange loss estimate was slightly on the low side and that many more grapefruit had been lost.

ROCKEFELLER SLIP SHOWS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (UP) —Nelson A. Rockefeller made an articulate witness before the Senate preparedness subcommittee yesterday except for one thing. He repeatedly addressed Senator Margaret Chase Smith (Rep.), Maine, as "Senator Chase."

ROCKET TESTERS TURN ATTENTION TO SATELLITES

Successful Firings Point to New Attempt to Launch Moon, Possibly Next Week.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP) — The nation's testers of space vehicles, having launched two 5000-mile missiles within four hours, turned their attention today to efforts to put two satellites into the sky. One attempt may be made next week.

The launchings yesterday of an Atlas ballistic missile and a Navaho ramjet vehicle both were successful. The Navaho took off ballistic-fashion under the power of two liquid propellant rockets considerably longer than the missile itself. The rocket boosters dropped off into the ocean after about 40 miles of flight. After the Navaho attained supersonic speed its ramjet engine was able to take over.

Each missile was believed to have flown several hundred miles, in a limited test.

One of the satellites, designed as a civilian scientific project under the Navy's management, will be an aluminum sphere 6.4 inches in diameter and weighing about 3¼ pounds. It will be launched by the three-stage, 72-foot-long Vanguard rocket.

The other will be a metal cylinder 80 inches long and six inches in diameter, weighing 29.7 pounds. It will be the final stage of the Army's Jupiter C missile.

Details Kept Secret.

Details of the satellite launch preparations were secrets kept behind the high fence that cuts off the Air Force missile test center here from the rest of the world, but it was known that both missiles are here, in varying stages of assembly.

Both the Navy and the Army have announced their intention to launch the satellites as soon as possible. They have been ordered to do so in belated efforts to match in part the Soviet achievements with two Sputnik moons.

Persons close to the programs expect the Vanguard attempt to come possibly next week and that of the Jupiter-C a week or so later.

A Vanguard launching attempt failed Dec. 6. The Army has not yet tried to put up a satellite but had hoped to beat the Navy to the next try.

Both services have emphasized that every effort would be made to keep the launchings secret until it has been determined whether they are successful.

Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, commander of the test center, has gone so far as to discontinue the hoisting aloft on two 90-foot poles on the cape of the red balls of flashing lights that have warned boats within five miles of the cape that "dry runs"—training exercises, static engine tests or actual launchings—were under way.

Conference on Safety.

He arranged to meet Monday with reporters who wanted to know whether this measure, admittedly making more difficult the task of cameramen and writers assigned to cover Cape Canaveral activities, was not also a menace to public safety.

Both the Atlas and the Navaho were fired without warning, either in the form of red ball signals or otherwise. It was the first time that this had been the case.

Yates said "the red balls were lowered in order to preclude alerting unauthorized persons to the fact that a classified test launching was imminent."

The launching of two huge vehicles in one day was also something new for Cape Canaveral. The Atlas is 70 feet long, and the Navaho with its booster rockets was only a few feet shorter.

The Navaho was much easier to observe than was the Atlas because of its lower speed—about twice the speed of sound, or 1000 to 1500 miles an hour, compared with 15 times the speed of sound or 10,000 to 11,400 miles an hour for the Atlas.

Development of the Navaho has been discontinued because of the faster weapons that have come along since.

VENEZUELA MOB DEMANDS END TO 'DICTATORSHIP'

Caracas Police Break Up Demonstration—Perez Jimenez Frees Jailed Priests.

CARACAS, Jan. 11 (AP)—Demonstrators in downtown Caracas last night demanded "an end to the dictatorship" as President Marcos Perez Jimenez sought to mollify the Vatican by freeing five jailed priests.

Police moved in with tear gas and machetes as several hundred shouting demonstrators milled about the heart of the capital. They broke up the demonstration after several shop windows were smashed and arrested about two dozen persons. No injuries were reported.

Perez Jimenez has been facing mounting political pressure since an unsuccessful New Year's uprising by some military forces. He announced the freeing of the priests shortly after he booted out the unpopular heads of his interior ministry and security police and installed a new cabinet.

'Sentiment of Armed Forces.'

The former army colonel said the new cabinet was "in accord with the sentiment of the national armed forces, the basic institution form which this government emanated." Perez Jimenez took over the presidency in 1952 by, he said, "judgment of the armed forces."

(Word reaching New York last night said Venezuelan naval forces have thrown their support to rising military pressure for a new government.

(The Vatican was openly aroused by the arrest of the priests the day after the uprising. An authoritative church source at Vatican City said at the time that a diplomatic break with Venezuela was imminent.

(The informant said the church was "preoccupied and displeased" with the situation which the Vatican felt was developing into a "clear persecution of Catholics.")

Release of the churchmen was ordered by Col. Jose Teofilo Velasco who took over as security chief after the ouster of Pedro Estrada. Estrada, who had ordered the priests arrested, also was accused of torturing members of the armed forces arrested on the eve of the revolt.

Accuses Captors.

One of the five priests, the Rev. Jesus Hernandez Chapellin, director of the Catholic church newspaper La Religion, said the group had been treated "very incorrectly" in prison. He declined to elaborate.

There also were reports that Gen. Hugo Fuentes, former land forces commander, and Col. Jesus Maria Castro Leon, ex-chief of the air force, had been released. They were arrested the day before the revolt of the air force and some army units, possibly triggering it off ahead of original plans, and charged with masterminding it.

Ousted with Estrada was Interior Minister Laureano Vallenilla Lanz who had been denounced as the creator of the formula to have Perez Jimenez returned to the presidency for a new five-year term by a yes-no plebiscite Dec. 15. Both went into exile.

India Mistreats Moslems, Rules Kashmir Illegally, Sheik Says

Leader Just Released From Prison Says He Was Betrayed by Nehru.

By A. M. ROSENTHAL
© New York Times News Service

KUD, KASHMIR, Jan. 10 — Sheik Mohammed Abdullah returned to political life in Kashmir yesterday with charges that India had "smashed the confidence of the Kashmir people" and established an illegal government based on force and supported by bayonets.

Running through the charges of the sheik, released here three days ago after four and half years in prison, was the most serious accusation any Moslem leader can make in India: Mistreatment of Moslems by Hindus.

The sheik said it was that mistreatment that had turned the people of Kashmir against India, led him to complain to New Delhi and finally resulted in his removal as prime minister of Indian Kashmir and his arrest on Aug. 9, 1953.

"I did not betray India," he said. "It was India that betrayed me."

The sheik made it clear that he still regarded himself as the leader of his people.

Charge of 'Betrayal.'

He said he was not bitter and that he was not an "enemy of India." But the word "betrayal" came again and again into his conversation.

It was almost like two interviews, given by two different people. He made clear in the first part of the conversation that he supported the idea of a plebiscite to determine Kashmir's future but would not say definitely whether he would prefer rule by India or Pakistan or independence.

To New Delhi, which regards Kashmir's accession to India as final and a plebiscite as virtually unthinkable, this will be final proof that the sheik has tured away from Kashmir's union with India, which he himself forged in 1947.

As the interview advanced, another Sheik Abdullah seemed to take over. He spoke with flashes of scorn of his old disciple, Bakshi Ghulam Mohammed, now prime minister of Indian Kashmir. He said he had known for months that Bakshi had intended taking power.

Blames Nehru.

He said neither Bakshi nor Karan Singh, the former Maharajah of Kashmir's son and now head of state ("we put him there"), had the power to arrest him and made clear he blamed most of all his old comrade Indian Prime Minister Nehru.

SHEIK MOHAMMED ABDULLAH

He charged that some of his assistants who had been imprisoned were treated like captives in a "Nazi concentration camp."

The sheik said the Indian Government had discriminated harshly against Kashmiri Moslems in the army and in the state militia, had refused to give them jobs in the postal service, had established a central intelligence bureau in Srinagar to bribe and corrupt his officials, had forced some Kashmiris to go to Pakistan, and had opposed his land reforms under which land was taken from large holders without compensation.

Linked to Stevenson.

He said he had complained to New Delhi but, getting no redress, had let hints of his dissatisfaction creep into his speeches. It was then, he said, that a plot was laid to jail him on charges conspiring with foreigners, including "that man —what's his name—(Adlai E.) Stevenson."

"Stevenson is alive," he said. "Go ask him if I conspired with him.

The sheik said he did not know when he would go to Sprinagar. When he does return he will find two largest parties—the National Conference he once founded and the new leftiest Democratic National Conference—firmly tied to union with India. The Political Conference is pro-Pakistan. Closest to him is the Plebiscite Front which makes a demand for a plebiscite without committing itself further.

EISENHOWER APPOINTS TWO

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) —President Eisenhower yesterday reappointed Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California as a member of the Civil Defense Advisory Council. He was named to a new term expiring Jan. 12, 1961.

Seybold of Washington, D.C., to be United States representative for negotiations among four states regarding development, protection from pollution and use of the water resources of the Little Missouri river. The states are Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wyoming. Seybold is a former Governor of the Panama Canal Zone.

RCA, NBC ANTI-TRUST CHARGE DISMISSED

Court Upholds Defense's Blanket Denials in Government Suit.

© New York Times News Service

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11 — The United States District Court yesterday dismissed the Government's anti-trust suit against the Radio Corporation of America and its subsidiary, the National Broadcasting Co.

Chief Judge William H. Kirkpatrick upheld the blanket denial of the defendants. He ruled the "defenses are valid and constitute a bar to the prosecution of the suit."

The two companies were charged with having "unlawfully combined and conspired" to obtain stations in five of the nation's eight largest television markets through "unlawful use of NBC's power as a network to grant or withhold NBC affiliation."

In dismissing the suit, filed here on Dec. 4, 1956, Judge Kirkpatrick agreed with the position taken by Bernard G. Segal, attorney for the companies, in his argument here last November. Segal contended the Government had had ample opportunity to advise the Federal Communications Commission of any objections it had before the commission authorized the transaction as a valid exercise of its discretion.

The Government's petition specifically cited a trade between NBC and the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. in which the network acquired ownership of WPTZ-TV and radio station KYW in Philadelphia. They have been renamed WRCV-TV and WRCV.

The complaint charged that if Westinghouse had balked at the exchange "it would lose its NBC affiliation in Boston and Philadelphia, it would not be granted NBC affiliation in Pittsburgh and would not be able to obtain NBC affiliation for the future stations it might acquire."

SECRETARY TO MINDSZENTY IS SAID TO HAVE GOT LIFE

BUDAPEST, Jan. 11 (AP)—Reports circulated in the Marko street courthouse here yesterday that Msgr. Egon Turcsanyi, secretary to Cardinal Mindszenty, has been sentenced to life in prison. There was no confirmation or denial from official sources.

Msgr. Turcsanyi, 65 years old and ill, was being tried with 15 young Roman Catholic priests and seminarians, and with Lt. Col. Pal Lieszkowski. Reports said that Judge Matild Toth and her two non-professional advisers had sentenced them to terms ranging from 10 years down to 10 months.

The court met in closed session for the sentencing, as it has for most of the hearings where Msgr. Turcsanyi has been present. Defendants were charged mainly with raiding the Communist regime's church affairs office in the unsuccessful anti-Russian revolt of 1956.

COUNTY CHARTER REVISIONS DRAW CRITICISM FROM TV PANELISTS

Members of Discussion Group Speak Out Against New Elective Office and Planning Proposals.

Plans to create a new elective county office and to combine county planning and engineering functions were criticized last night during a discussion of proposed changes in the St. Louis County Charter.

Participants in the discussion, which was televised by educational station KETC, included three county officials who assisted in drafting a series of projected amendments to the charter. Public hearings on revision of the charter, which is subject to approval by voters, will be held next week.

An amendment to create the new office of director of county revenue was criticized by Mayor Clement E. Helmsing of Ferguson and Mrs. Rich— Waite, 53 Grantwood lane, Grantwood, members of a panel that questioned the county officials.

Helmsing questioned whether the amendment would not create "a two-headed government." He said the plan for a single department of revenue to handle all tax matters is an improvement over the present system, in which tax functions are divided among three separate offices. However, the new department should be headed by an appointive, rather than an elective official, he asserted.

Concern Over Control.

Mrs. Waite expressed concern that the County Supervisor's control over the budgetary procedure would be weakened if the revenue director were not appointed by the Supervisor.

Councilman Richard A. Hetlage (Rep.), Fourth District, answered that the Supervisor's budget-making powers would not be impaired by grouping tax functions under an independent, elected official.

Plans for combining planning duties with highway and public works engineering functions in a Department of Public Works and Planning were challenged by Henry J. Schmandt, professor of government at St. Louis Uinversity and a member of the staff of the recent Metropolitan St. Louis Survey, which studied governmental problems here.

"Planning is one of the most important aspects of county government," he stated. "It consists of much more than just engineering functions.

"It should not be a subordinate division of the public works department. Planning should be a direct instrument of the chief executive. It would be a most serious mistake to let this proposal stand."

Present Duties Limited.

Councilman L. Gordon Davis (Rep.), Seventh District, explained that duties of the county planning office are limited largely to zoning, land use, subdivision and engineering studies. "We have not had as much of a planning operation as the county should have," he added.

Both Davis and Hetlage disputed Schmandt's contention that the proposed amendment would make the planning agency subordinate to the new position of director of public works and planning. They said the new plan would merely "co-ordinate three departments that have related engineering functions."

Schmandt said a department of administration proposed in the revised charter is only "a paper department" without an effective head.

Principal charter changes, proposed by members of the County Council included elimination of three elective offices and changing a fourth to appointive status; creation of two new departments; establishment of a new appointive office of budget director and a number of other changes in offices and procedures.

POLICE RAID FLAT, ARREST THREE ON GAMING CHARGES

The police gambling squad last night arrested three men in a raid on a flat at 4432A Easton avenue, where a printing press and a variety of policy game material was seized.

Booked on gambling charges were: James Oliver, living in the 4300 block of Kennerly avenue; Harold King, of the Easton avenue address, and Robert Agerson, 3739 Windsor place.

Lt. John Bloecher, who led the raid, seized top sheets, policy slips and the press as evidence.

MAN KILLED IN ROW OVER BARKING DOG

28-Year-Old Teacher Is Shot to Death in Dispute With Neighbor.

Charles Brown, a public school teacher, was shot and killed late yesterday in his home, 3138A Fair avenue, by a neighbor in a dispute over the barking of Brown's dog.

Held suspected of homicide is Charles Burden, a laborer, who lives downstairs at the Fair avenue address.

Police were told by Brown's wife, Mary, that her husband answered a knock at the door and she heard several shots. She said Burden, whom she had never seen before, was in the living room when she hurried there from the kitchen. He asked "Where's the dog?" and then went downstairs.

Brown, 28 years old, was wounded in the jaw, abdomen and thigh and died at Homer G. Phillips Hospital 30 minutes later. Burden surrendered a .38-caliber pistol and admitted the shooting, police said.

Mrs. Brown said her husband had told her he and "a man downstairs" were having trouble over noise made by the Browns' dog. There had been several arguments, Brown related, according to his wife.

JUVENILE COURT JUDGES, MENTAL UNIT TO MEET

A group of juvenile court judges will meet with the State Mental Health Commission in Jefferson City Jan. 24 to discuss problems, Circuit Judge Noah Weinstein of Clayton announced yesterday.

Since the new juvenile code was enacted last June, giving courts authority to call on mental and psychiatric consultants, state hospital superintendents have complained that juvenile courts have been committing juveniles to hospitals even though no facilities are available.

Gov. James T. Blair expressed concern in December about the problem that had arisen at state hospitals in caring for juveniles committed by courts under the new code. He made public a letter written by Dr. Alfred K. Baur, superintendent of State Hospital No. 1 at Fulton, to all circuit judges in the state.

lowered from windows, installation of an incinerator, refilling fire extinguishers and certain repairs to the building. Inspectors later noted there had been "insufficient progress" in correcting the condition of the premises. There was no record of the disposition of the rooming house application.

Two men were injured when their automobile skidded on ice which formed in a traffic subway near the hotel and crashed into a concrete wall. James W. Bullion, 720 South Jackson street, Belleville, the driver, suffered injuries of the face and neck. Roy Bullion, 44A Roosevelt Homes, East St. Louis, suffered a severe injury of the left knee. Both are in St. Mary's Hospital.

ALL-DAY PURSUIT OF ELUSIVE FOX ENDS IN CAPTURE

A gray fox that eluded would-be captors most of yesterday in the area of North Taylor and Pershing avenues finally was captured late in the afternoon by James Sillman of the Humane Society of Missouri.

First reported in the grounds of the Academy of the Sacred Heart, 334 North Taylor avenue, the fox demonstrated grace, agility and speed as it led Humane Society officers and police on a chase in shrubbery and down alleys.

Officer Sillman tossed a net over the fox about 5 p.m. after it had maneuvered itself into a dead-end gangway between buildings in the 200 block of North Newstead avenue. It still had plenty of spunk.

The fox will be kept at the Humane Society's shelter, 1210 Macklind avenue, for 11 days. After that, it will be freed in a wildlife reservation.

SUGGESTS INQUIRY ON STATE OR U.S. AID ON INNER BELT

Investigation of possible availability of federal or state funds to aid in construction of the proposed Inner Belt Expressway will be urged by St. Louis County Supervisor Luman F. Matthews after the County Council has agreed on a location for the highway, he said today.

He added that he would ask for a study by the Bond Issue Advisory (Watchdog) Committee on whether a new bond issue proposal should be submitted to voters to complete the expressway.

The 1955 bond issue set aside $16,100,000 for the Inner Belt, but cost estimates by engineers range from $33,000,000 to $43,000,000, depending on the location chosen.

CHECK SHOWS BURGLARS OBTAINED $5000 IN LOOT

John Constantine, operator of the South Public Market, a supermarket at 7701 South Broadway, reported to police, following a check yesterday that burglars who broke open a safe in the store Thursday night abtained about $5000.

The burglars climbed to the roof of a small building at the rear of the market to reach a window leading to a balcony where the offices are. The door was knocked off the safe.

POLICEMAN IN STORE AS CLERK IS HELD UP

St. John Officer Unaware of $500 Robbery by Man Hidden From His View.

A clerk in Sands Super Drug Store, 8701 St. Charles road, was robbed last night by a man who fled with between $500 and $600 without attracting the attention of Assistant Chief of Police Charles Eiffert of St. John, who was in the store.

Miss Wanda Price, the clerk, said the man approached the cosmetic counter, where she was working and demanded money, "especially the money order cash." He held his hand in his coat pocket as if he had a revolver and warned her against making any outcry. Eiffert, standing at a soda counter about 15 feet away, was hidden from the robber's view by a counter stacked high with merchandise. He was unaware that a holdup had taken place until after the robber walked out the front door, and Miss Price made a report to the manager.

Police think the robber had an accomplice, who earlier had observed Miss Price sell money orders. The holdup man was described as six feet tall, dark complexioned and wearing a pink shirt and a suit. He was hatless.

Morris Muchnick, a grocer, was robbed of $160 last night after closing his store at 2742 Stoddard street.

Muchnick told police he was getting into his automobile when four men approached and one threatened him with a revolver. They took the money and fled south in Leffingwell avenue.

William Thompson, a chemical worker, was knocked down in the 2900 block of Hebert street last nigh and robbed of $45 by an assailant, who ripped the pocket of Thompson's trousers to reach his wallet. Thompson, who lives at 2617 Natural Bridge avenue, said he did not see the robber, who struck him from behind.

Charles Price, 2217 Menard street, left a tavern at Eighth street and Chouteau avenue early today and was grabbed by four men who pulled off his trousers and fled with his billfold containing $30.

A small safe containing $400 was stolen last night from the market of Nick Vlemma, Sarah street and Laclede avenue. The burglars gained entrance through the coal chute.

Joseph O'Leary, collector for the Delta Finance Co., 2337 Franklin avenue, reported to police that $1117 was stolen from the trunk of his automobile yesterday. O'Leary, who lives at 3922 St. Louis avenue, said he locked the money in the trunk in the morning, and discovered it was missing after making a stop in the 2000 block of Franklin avenue in the afternoon.

SAMMY DAVIS, LORAY WHITE MARRIED; BRIDE HOUR LATE

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Jan. 11 (AP)—Singer Sammy Davis Jr. and Loray White were married last night, but the bride was late for the wedding. A justice of the peace performed the ceremony before 100 guests.

Miss White, 23 years old, explained that she was an hour tardy because relatives, through a misunderstanding, did not arrive on time to help her dress. They finally showed up—and so did she. Davis, 32, said they planned a honeymoon in Mexico. The marriage was his first, her second.

NO INDICTMENT VOTED IN COUNTY SHERIFF INQUIRY

But Jury Says He Should Not Act for Governor and Bondsman at the Same Time.

The St. Louis county grand jury found insufficient evidence to return indictments in connection with Sheriff Orion J. Litzsinger's handling of the return of bail jumpers, the jury told Circuit Judge Franklin Ferriss today in its final report.

The jury recommended, however, that a sheriff, acting as "messenger" for the Governor in returning prisoners should not be permitted to act as agent for a bondsman at the same time.

County Prosecuting Attorney Edward W. Garnholz, in a statement following submission of the jury report, said he and the Attorney General's office had investigated the bail jumper matter vigorously and had presented to the grand jury all available evidence "as pertaining to St. Louis county."

"It would of course be improper for our grand jury or for me to act or comment on any possible criminal acts outside the jurisdiction of St. Louis county," Garnholz said.

The county prosecutor has worked with Attorney General John M. Dalton in connection with possible law violations both in St. Louis county and Cole county.

"I will abide by the jury's decision in the case and will seek to correct weaknesses in the statutes as pointed out by the grand jury," Garnholz said.

In its recommendations, growing out of investigation of the sheriff's practice of charging both the state and bondsmen for return of bail jumpers, the jury said that "all reasonable expenses of an extradition should be borne by the State Treasury and fully reimbursed by the bondsman or bonding company, either by payment of a bill presented by the State Treasurer or by deduction from the principal of the bond by the court before remittance of forfeiture.

"It would not then be legally possible for any governor's agent to overcharge in extradition cases."

The jury said it had studied the sheriff's practices in the light "of the Missouri Constitution, the statutes, Supreme Court rules and customs under which the sheriff was acting."

MISSOURIAN AMONG 3 DEAD IN AIRCRAFT CARRIER BLAST

YOKOSUKA, Japan, Jan. 11 (AP)—The United States Navy today identified three men killed and two gravely injured in an explosion yesterday aboard the attack aircraft carrier Kearsarge.

Killed were: Airman Charles L. Bosler of Lee's Summit, Mo.; Airman Boatswain's Mate Dwayne H. Klotzbach, Niles, Mich., and Airman Paul F. Muckentaler, Paxico, Kan.

Injured were: Seaman Alfred M. Fivel, of Burlington, N.C., and Seaman Dennis G. Walraf, Cedar Glen, Calif.

The explosion occured in the catapult room below the flight deck of the 41,000-ton carrier as it was launching a plane in a routine training exercise off the south coast of Japan's Honshu island.

Gross, Nashville, Tenn., director of the commission on Christian Higher Education of the Methodist Church, made the report at the commission's annual meeting.

PHA TO DECIDE BY FEB. 12 ON HOUSING PROJECT

Commissioner Says Legal Difficulties Hold Up Ruling on Barracks Contract.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—A decision by the Public Housing Administration on whether to approve the construction contract for the proposed Jefferson Barracks housing project will be reached within the 60-day period permitted by the bid terms, Commissioner Charles E. Slusser of the PHA said yesterday.

In a letter to Representative Leonor K. Sullivan (Dem.), St. Louis, Slusser said legal difficulties that have arisen in connection with the 350-unit low-rent project have made it "essential to review the development in order to fully protect and serve the interests of the Government."

He noted that construction bids were opened last Dec. 12 and that the terms of the bidding gave the PHA 60 days in which to accept or reject the bid approved by the County Housing Authority. This would make Feb. 12 the deadline for action by the PHA.

'Normal Procedures.'

Slusser said he had advised the Housing Authority that the bids "were being reviewed under normal procedures and that our decision would be forthcoming within the period permitted under the terms of the bidding."

Mrs. Sullivan had asked Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, Slusser's superior, to explain by yesterday why he is holding up approval of the $3,569,100 construction contract awarded last Dec. 14 by the County Housing Authority.

Replying on behalf of Cole, Slusser referred to legal developments that have clouded the future of the housing project, including an effort for an election on a proposal to abolish the Housing Authority.

Slusser said a lower court in St. Louis county last Dec. 11 dismissed a suit attacking the validity of the County Housing Authority's co-operation agreement with "the local government."

"However," he pointed out, "the dismissal order permitted revival of the action through amendment of the complaint. This has been done, and the case is at this time pending before the local courts."

Petition for Election.

Slusser also said a petition seeking an election on whether to abolish the housing authority was filed with the county board of election commissioners on Dec. 9.

"We have not been furnished with a copy of the chief law officer's ruling on the validity of this petition, nor have we been informed as to whether an election will be ordered on such petition," Slusser told Mrs. Sullivan.

Francis M. Barnes III, chairman of the County Hosuing Authority, had asked Mrs. Sullivan, as a member of the Housing subcommittee of the House Banking Committee, to inquire into the delay in approving the construction contract. The project would be located in the district of Representative Thomas B. Curtis (Rep.), Webster Groves.

The Housing subcommittee wound up three days of hearings yesterday on the federal slum clearance and urban renewal program. In the light of testimony presented by witnesses representing municipal housing authorities and housing associations, the complaint by Barnes of an "unnecessary" delay by the PHA "seems very justified," Mrs. Sullivan declared.

"If the project is not a good one — not approvable — they should be so advised, and if it is approvable . . . then they should be told, and promptly," she said in a statement filed with the subcommittee.

Mrs. Sullivan emphasized that she was not interceding in the matter as the representative of the families involved in the Jefferson Barracks project but as a member of the housing subcommittee requested to do so by Barnes.

Barnes has said Administrator Cole told him that action on the project was being held up at the request of Curtis. Cole has denied telling Barnes this, and Curtis has denied asking Cole to delay approval of the contract.

50-FOOT YACHT SUNK AT FOOT OF PINE STREET

Workmen today were seeking to raise the "Arcturus," a 50-foot pleasure craft which sank in the St. Louis Yacht Harbor at the foot of Pine street.

The 23-ton cruiser, moored to a barge by steel cables and ropes, was found partially submerged yesterday. Cause of the sinking was not known, but harbor attendants thought a sharp piece of floating ice might have pierced the 2½-inch wooden hull.

The craft is owned by Russell O. Kirkpatrick, 703 Hollywood Heights road, Caseyville, Ill., who said it cost $27,000 when built 30 years ago. He purchased it 15 years ago. The cruiser is elaborately equipped, and has an oil burner and hot-water boiler to provide steam heat.

RESPECT OF NON-WHITE RACES VITAL, BRITON SAYS

The free nations must work to gain and hold the respect of the non-white races of the world, Gilbert Longden, member of the British Parliament and the United Kingdom's delegate to the United Nations, told the St. Louis branch of the English-Speaking Union last night at a dinner at the University Club.

Speaking on the theme "The Commonwealth for Common Security," Longden said the colored races outnumber the white races in 82 countries represented in the United Nations. He asserted that the Commonwealth had set an example for co-operation between races.

The speaker, chairman of the Conservative Party Education Committee and of the Far Eastern Affairs Sub-committee, urged "unity, sympathy and understanding" between the United States and the Commonwealth as a means of preserving peace. This can be achieved, he added, through informed public opinion.

WORKERS VOTE TO END CENTURY ELECTRIC STRIKE

Decision in 15-Week Stoppage Is Unanimous—738 to Return to Work Monday.

The 15-week strike by employes of Century Electric Co. ended today when members of Local 1108, International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers unanimously accepted a management offer of wage increases and other benefits.

More than 1400 workers have been on strike since Sept. 30. The company announced that is was sending out letters calling 738 employes back to work Monday, with the remainder to be recalled as soon as additional production can be scheduled.

The union had sought a wage increase of 12 cents an hour, a union shop and the right to help set method of pay for new or changed jobs.

The strike-ending agreement, effective to Oct. 1, 1959, provides for an immediate pay increase of 8 cents an hour for all employes in the unit, with an additional five cents for 175 workers in skilled classifications. On Oct. 1, 1958, all employes are to receive a further 7-cent increase. Base pay for day workers prior to the strike was $1.68 to $2.80 an hour.

It was agreed that either management or union shall have the right to institute a new discussion of pay for skilled workers on Jan. 1, 1959.

A joint statement by company and union siad the agreement provided improvements relating to setting of rates for new jobs, revised methods of pay, hours, holidays, seniority, vacations, funeral leave, job classifications and other matters.

Frank Lenhardt, president of the local, and other union leaders recommended acceptance of the company's proposal, terming it an improvement over a previous offer. They also spoke of a downturn in business conditions, and said that because of the union's concern over the economic situation it was not pressing every point of its demands.

James W. Click, international vice president of the uion, termed the settlement "a darned good one," but pointed out that the workers had not won everything they sought, citing the fact that they had not obtained a union shop.

The local has 1450 members. Approximately 1200 assembled at the union hall, 6141 Ttzel avenue, to vote on the strike settlement.

While the meeting was in progress, a policeman came in to announce that the members, by leaving their automobiles on a grocery parking lot, had created a traffic jam and the machines would be towed away if not speedily removed. A recess was declared, and some 50 persons hurried out to seek other parking places.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Second-Rate Missouri

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As an alumnus of the University of Missouri I was interested in Dr. Ellis's frank appraisal of the situation facing higher education in our state. It is obvious that the university is fast becoming a second-rate institution because of inadequate financial support.

It should be emphasized, however, that this problem is not confined to education alone, but affects all other state services as well. That is the reason per capita expenditures for public health services in Missouri are the lowest in the nation and the treatment afforded mental cases is so shockingly inadequate.

Why is it that Missouri, which ranks twenty-first among the states in per capita wealth, cannot provide more than starvation payments to its aged, to its dependent children and to the unfortunates on relief?

The obvious answer is public apathy and indifference to the urgent needs of our people and disregard for the human resources of the state.

Until the people of Missouri realize what a tremendous toll this philosophy is exacting in wasted lives, misery and suffering, little improvement can be expected.

What is needed is bold, vigorous leadership which is sadly lacking in Jefferson City. The stock expression, "You get what you pay for," certainly expresses the provision of state services in Missouri at this time. AN OBSERVER.
Jefferson City.

Another Traffic Mess

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Boy, it's great to find a guy who knows how to get things done.

Working near the airfield, I find it is necessary at times to go through Ferguson on the way home. Will the gentleman from Ferguson, the traffic critic, please use his know-how to help us get through his town?

He complains about traffic moving in two lanes only when he is coming home through Pine Lawn; we pray him to get us one lane of traffic to move home in when going through his town?

Parking is permitted on both sides of the street and when someone pulls out or backs in everything stops. Double parking is permitted to pick up relatives, friends, neighbors or what have you. PINE LAWN WORKER.

Behind 'Blind' Flying

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As an airline captain, I would like to take exception to a statement in your recent editorial, "Trains in a Fog," which states, "Flying blind with all the gear for it is risky in an airplane." I realize the hazard of lifting a sentence out of context to establish an issue. However, as an airline pilot I would like to correct a common misconception which is not helped by public statements such as this.

If any reference is to be made to the "risk of flying blind in an airplane" it should be on the basis of how that risk has been eliminated to the maximum possible degree through the application of the highest professional and technical standards of the people in the aviation industry.

To be specific, an airline captain, unlike any other professional man charged with the safety and welfare of the public, is required to demonstrate his original qualifying proficiency in instrument flying twice annually. He is also required to demonstrate twice each year his en route navigational and flight conduct proficiency.

This coupled with a biannual physical examination qualifies him as an individual who is more than casually capable of neutralizing to the maximum the inherent risk generally considered to surround an operation that defies the law of gravity under conditions of adverse weather, i.e. "flying blind in an airplane."

ROBERT W. PONTIUS JR.

'Live and Let Live'

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

What is "co-existence"?

In the lexicon of our Secretary of State that term means that we should stand pat, armed to the teeth, indulge occasionally in provocative verbal sorties of "massive retaliation" and "brink of war" threats, and continue waiting for a degenerative process to begin in the Russian body politic.

This rigid stand of Mr. Dulles may explain that almost fanatical obsession for persistently brushing off any peace overtures by the Soviet Union as so much pernicious propaganda.

There is only one direction in which we can and must go—a negotiated settlement with Russia, on a basis of equality and mutual concessions and accommodations.

Let us not try to solve in one package all the troublesome problems that plague the world. We can make a small beginning, tackling first areas of discord where the conflicting interests are not brought out so sharply in focus and are, therefore, more amenable of being resolved.

"Co-existence" should be based on the maxim of "Live and Let Live," respecting the sovereign rights of nations to live their own lives and choose any form of government and economic set-up they deem best for the welfare of their peoples.

ISRAEL GARFINKEL.
University City.

And Better Cities Too

The wave of congestion, obsolescence and blight that threatens to engulf the nation's cities can be turned back only by a sustained, massive and expensive physical effort.

This is a self-evident proposition to leaders in the 170 urban districts in which two thirds of our people live. But apparently the Eisenhower Administration has come to a different conclusion. The word from Washington is that the Government's urban renewal and slum clearance programs, the base upon which the attack on blight and slums has been mounted, are to be shrunk to token size. The increased cost of defense is the rationalization for such a move.

This is a negative, sterile and thoroughly impractical approach to a problem which, if ignored, will rapidly grow worse. As Mayor Richardson Dillworth of Philadelphia said the other day:

> When we are at the highest peak in living standards and national income, there can be no doubt of our ability to absorb the needed increase in defense expenditures without sacrificing these basic programs.

That there are those in the Administration who would happily scuttle these programs under the pretext of overriding priorities for national defense goes without saying. Their whole approach to this field tends to be negative, as is clear from what happened to this year's budget.

For the fiscal year ending next June the Administration originally requested $175,000,000 in new money for urban redevelopment and slum clearance. In the face of a demonstrated need for four times that sum, the budget request was lifted to $250,000,000. Congress proceeded to authorize $350,000,000. But federal officials then said they simply would not use the extra $100,000,000, and that was that.

Those who live with urban blight, the elected officials of the nation's urban areas, have estimated through their American Municipal Association that at least $500,000,000 a year over a 10-year period is essential to come to grips with the problem.

The urban renewal program has been developed after long and laborious experiment. A "seed program" in which a small investment of public funds generates enormous investment of private funds, it is just now at the point where it is beginning to show spectacular results. To slash urban renewal on the pretext of making more money available for defense would mean meeting our military obligations at the expense of urban slum dwellers. Surely that is not to be the nation's final judgment.

Junkets From Pole to Pole

Travel is broadening, and some Congressmen could stand a lot of it, so it is encouraging to learn that 1957 was a close runnerup to 1955 as a record year for Congressional foreign travel. But it is not so encouraging to find that Congress is still adamant against letting the public have any breakdown on expense accounts of the travelers.

Somewhere between 180 and 200 Representatives and Senators went outside the continental limits of the United States last year. Representative John P. Saylor of Pennsylvania became the first Congressman to fly over the South Pole. A six-man delegation traveled from the North to South Pole in 14 days in order, they said, to check on "scientific and military developments." They wiped out a 35-day record for pole-to-pole that had been set by the veteran Australian explorer, Sir Hubert Wilkins. The favorite tourist spots, such as Paris, London and Rome, also were visited by a goodly number of Congressmen.

Committee authorization is all that is required for a Congressman to go almost any place on public funds. Among these public monies are "counterpart funds" or foreign currency put up by foreign governments to help match the United States dollar. Congressmen abroad on official business may use these funds as they choose without making the itemized accounting that is required of executive branch officials who use the same funds.

The Congress could separate the junketeers from the worthy travelers in short order if it would itemize all expense accounts for travel on public business and make them available for public inspection.

10 Billions More for Roads?

Secretary of Commerce Weeks has now put motorists officially on notice that they will have either to pay more or to wait longer for their 41,000-mile interstate highway system.

The 1956 highway law estimated that this program of nation-spanning divided highways could be completed in 13 years, at a total cost of $27,645,000,000—the Federal Government paying 25 billions and the states the remainder.

Now Secretary Weeks reports a 10 billion dollar rise in the estimated cost, and even this estimate may be too low. The construction schedule therefore may have to be stretched out four more years, unless Congress seeks to raise the highway use taxes that pay the cost.

Mr. Weeks says he is not proposing any revenue legislation "at this time." And it would seen wiser to stretch out the program, rather than to raise taxes, for two reasons. One is that the nation must meet new defense costs. The other is that heavier highway spending could well wait until it was definitely needed to spur a lagging national economy. Meanwhile, the country can still build thousands of miles of new superhighways in 13 years on present revenue.

Where Mr. Benson Is Right

Secretary of Agriculture Benson is both consistent and sound in suggesting an end to the acreage reserve provision of the soil bank plan at the end of this crop year.

Mr. Benson has had his doubts about the long-range value of the acreage reserve program right along. The trouble with this feature of the soil bank is that it does not really bank any soil and it is not an effective means of controlling farm production.

Congress passed the soil bank plan during the presidential election year of 1956, after first failing to restore high fixed price supports. The result was a compromise. The soil bank contained its essential element—the conservation reserve, which encourages farmers to put some of their less productive cropland into trees and grass for the long run. But more money was to be spent for the acreage reserve, which gives money to farmers who retire part of their acreage from production of major crops.

The acreage reserve was supposed to be a temporary emergency measure. It was intended to put cash into the hands of farmers, and it did. The one thing it did not do was to reduce surpluses, or make a real dent in production. Farmers took the payments, retired some acreage, and then increased efforts to produce on their remaining acreage. So the nation produced one of its biggest crops on one of its smallest acreages.

Since the conservation reserve portion of the soil bank actually does conserve our soil and water resources, it should be retained and expanded. But the acreage reserve plan is only another aspect of a farm subsidy program which has failed to reduce crops or food prices. That whole program needs to be reviewed.

Moscow Does It Again

Premier Bulganin's latest batch of letters, showered over the world simultaneously with President Eisenhower's State of the Union message, are quite plainly an exercise in propaganda. The worst of it is, they are probably most effective propaganda.

What Moscow did, by means of an ancient public-relations trick well known in this country, was to compel President Eisenhower to share the platform with Premier Bulganin all over Europe, Africa and Asia, if not in the United States. Having muscled in on the President's time, Bulganin then trotted out every Soviet peace plan Moscow has offered, together with a new one for summit talks at Geneva within two or three months.

Taking the President and Bulganin side by side, the world heard Mr. Eisenhower devoting most of his attention to the mustering of national strength, and Bulganin devoting all of his attention to peace plans. As a fitting olio, Secretary Dulles then came onstage in his familiar role of flatly rejecting the proposal of a summit conference.

The drama is as conventional as Uncle Tom's Cabin, but still a good one for propaganda purposes. The Russians have every reason to be satisfied with the results.

But there is no reason for any rejoicing in Washington. There, the big question must be: Why do we keep playing into the Soviets' hands?

Why do we not get out of the unfavorable position of always saying "No"? Why do we permit ourselves to be tagged as the miltarists while the Russians, possessing as much military power or more, parade as peacemongers? Why do we not explode this whole false stage play by agreeing to sit down and discuss (not necessarily at the summit) the demilitarization of central Europe, a moratorium on nuclear tests, a staged disarmament plan, and any scheme old or new, the Soviets or anybody might offer?

Unfortunately the answer is intimately tied up with Secretary Dulles. Most probably the United States won't start doing any better until Mr. Dulles gives way to another Secretary of State.

Sharp Pruning Is in Order

The Veterans Administration office in St. Louis has sent income questionnaires to more than 1100 St. Louis and Eastern Missouri veterans and widows and children of veterans who are receiving non-service-connected disability or death pensions. This is to determine the relative need of those who are receiving such pensions.

The law forbids the payment of non-service related pensions to persons whose income without dependents exceeds $1400, or $2700 with dependents. It is difficult enough to excuse the payment of pensions for non-service related disability at all. There is no excusing it whatever if the recipients have reasonable income of their own.

The VA ought to go over these pension lists and prune them as vigorously as the law allows.

Big Job for County Citizens

Three important tasks lie ahead of the Citizens Advisory Committee that the County Council has created to help in evaluating proposals for Charter reform.

First and foremost, the Citizens must persuade the Council to enlarge substantially on the timid proposals for administrative reform that the Councilmen have offered as a talking point. All 14 of the county's independently elected administrative offices, not merely two or three of them, ought to be made appointive under the County Supervisor. And all the county's employes ought to be hired on the merit system.

Second, the Citizens should examine and discuss the organization of the Council itself. All seven Councilmen represent individual districts. Consequently the needs of the county as a whole tend to be subordinated to the special pleadings of its individual parts.

Supervisor Matthews is the only public official in the whole county with any responsibility for seeing the county as a unit. This would be undesirable under ordinary circumstances. In a county of 97 municipalities, 29 school districts and innumerable special service districts it is an especially serious defect.

A Council composed of six members, say three elected by districts and three elected from the county at large, would tend to produce a balance in the county's legislative body that it now lacks.

Finally the Citizens ought seriously to consider bringing the Council-Manager plan to county administration. Six of the county's most progressive municipalities have adopted this form in the last 10 years. There is just as much reason for putting the county administration into the hands of qualified professionals as there is for doing so on a municipal level.

If the Citizens Committee wants to make a lasting contribution to the county it will have to insist that a program of sweeping Charter changes be submitted to the people.

An Exchange Program With Russia

The report from Washington that the United States and Soviet Russia have agreed on a broad exchange program seems to presage a practical application of President Eisenhower's message of good will to the Russian nation for the New Year.

Agreement has been reached in principle for scientific exchanges in a broad field, the details still to be worked out. Similar exchanges are agreed for industrial specialists in mining, manufacturing, metallurgy, chemicals, electric power and related areas. Still other fields for expert personnel exchanges are construction, housing, industrial building, bridges and town planning, and various specialties in agriculture, such as cattle breeding and truck gardening.

Certainly no less important than these technical areas are the cultural fields in which exchanges of teachers, students, artists, writers and editors are also scheduled. Finally there is the category of sports and athletics.

When we remember how recently Russian and American chess players could not get together because of fingerprint requirements, it is evident that an advance of large proportions is taking form. The United States can take credit for having held out this possibility as long ago as the 1955 summit conference in Geneva. And it is to the credit of Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin that he has worked for an exchange program while in Washington.

As he leaves Washington to return to Moscow in two weeks, the big Russian can take satisfaction in knowing that he has promoted good will.

From Las Vegas to Jefferson City

Even the Gambling Citadel Speaks for Conservation

Dan Saults, Assistant Director, Missouri Conservation Commission, in the Missouri Conservationist

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Ever visit that publicity-hallowed den of iniquity called Las Vegas? It isn't a very sinful place, really—just an oasis devoted to letting people dream of great wealth acquired by wagering silver dollars or 50-buck chips on the roll of dice, the spin of a roulette wheel or the lever of a slot machine.

Out there in the desert night, neon signs flaunt a many-hued challenge to the unheeding sky while behind glowing facades of storied hotels croupiers ply a skilled trade. Over the craps layout, the blackjack table, the whirring wheel and clicking ball, players brood upon their system, clink their piles of silver dollars and dream of wealth; stack upon stack of silver . . . power and glory in the chime of cash, hard money, "real" money . . . visions of yachts and mink coats invoked by chinking coins under lights that man has set glowing in his dare to darkness.

It is very gay, Las Vegas, and very interesting; the stir and the dream go on all night long, where some of the women are beautiful and all of the furnishings glitter.

Water on the Desert

But go back behind your hotel at dawn, past where sprinklers water the grass beside the big swimming pool, just a little way beyond the reach of the sprays—and there is the desert! Its sands lap ceaselessly against the barrier built by water, just as the ocean beats forever against the dunes on all the world's coasts. Only two steps from the edge of the grass —that grass which must always be tended by man and water—and you stand on the eternal desert that waits always on the edge of Las Vegas, ready to reclaim its own when vigilance relaxes only for a moment. Go stand behind your hotel and get a real perspective.

The desert was there before the gamblers were. Men built a big dam and piped water from Lake Mead to hold the sands at bay so the swank hotels could be built, so the wheels could turn and dice roll and people could clink their silver dollars in a dream of wealth. But cut off the water for only a few days, blow out the dams with a single bomb, destroy the pipes that feed sprinklers and pools . . . and the desert will take it all again.

What is wealth: silver chiming on the tables, chips clinking in their slots—or water? What good symbols of power if the eau de vie fails? Can you drink from a coin or find sustenance in a poker chip?

An Eternal Struggle

Without water, there's no Las Vegas . . . but then there's no Kansas City or St. Louis, either. Where then are all our streams of wealth?

This is an odd sort of preface to our current plans for wildlife and forestry in Missouri. It's a long way from Las Vegas to Jefferson City (only a few hours by plane, really) and the gap may not be great between desert sands and our Missouri valley (only a few decades by land misuse, really). But there is a connection.

For outside our cities, our farmlands, our forested hills, there laps ceaselessly the desert of man, the arid wastelands that would encroach with their lions and lizards upon the court of kings and the pyramidal towers of skyscrapers.

We who call ourselves conservationists would like to keep clean water flowing as a bulwark against sterile sands, we who call ourselves game managers would like to keep wild creatures thriving in quiet places, we who call ourselves fisheries technicians would like to know that swift fins dart in secret grottoes beneath shining opacity; we who call ourselves foresters want men yet unborn to gaze out over oaks and pines clothing a thousand hill-slopes.

The 'Sputniks' Shook Spain

Richard Scott Mowrer in The Providence Evening Bulletin

Gen. Francisco Franco's right-wing authoritarian regime is calling off its cold war with Communist Russia. There had been a behind-the-scenes tendency in this direction for some time, but since the launching of the Soviet satellites the trend has become more pronounced and less concealed.

At the same time American prestige in Madrid is sagging badly. A shower of criticism of the United States, the sharpest since the pre-alliance days, followed in the wake of Sputnik I and II.

On Oct. 7, three days after the Russians successfully rocketed Sputnik I into space, Gen. Franco made a speech in which he took the unprecedented step of drawing a parallel between the Soviet system and his own in order to demonstrate that it is authoritarian regimes based on "discipline and order" that get places.

On the same day the newspaper Hoja del Lunes came out with the most biting criticism of the United States to pass censorship since the signing of the Spanish-American alliance in 1953:

"The launching of the first satellite by the Soviet Union represents a serious loss of prestige for the United States, which, after undertaking a fabulous propaganda campaign announcing how it would launch its satellite next spring, has been beaten by the scientists of Russia. It would be a good idea for the Americans to learn the lesson the Russians have just given them and in future to abolish their system of sensationalist propaganda and not sell the fur of the bear until they have caught it!"

Doubtless the criticism was merited. What gave it special significance was that by the very nature of the Franco regime it could not have been published without official sanction.

How to Hire a Football Coach

From The Hutchinson (Kan.) News

The departure of Football Coach Chuck Mather from the University of Kansas, on the heels of one of the school's best seasons, has added complexity to the confusion that normally accompanies such an event.

Mather was not actually fired. He resigned in mid-season after he got what he considered reliable information that he would be fired. The lesson the Mather affair teaches is that while football has become big business, it has failed to surround itself with the usual safeguards of big business. The Mather confusion might be avoided in the future if, in hiring its new coach, K.U. puts its requirements on the line, in writing. As a suggestion, it should be specified that the new coach win six games in 1958, eight games in 1959 and 10 games in 1960, after which new contract terms will be discussed.

This way, the embarrassment of "firing" a winning coach can be avoided.

Between Book Ends

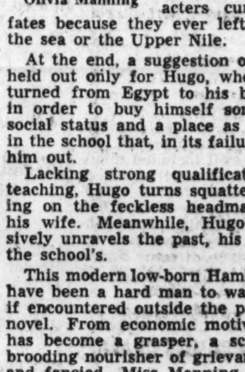
Handicap of Hurt Feelings

A DIFFERENT FACE, by Olivia Manning. (Abelard-Schuman, 220 pgs., $3.50.)

Olivia Manning's new novel combines the pace of a mystery story with the psychological penetration of some of the best of Robert Browning's dramatic monologues. Here is a book for the adult reader, a tense narrative he is likely to read at a sitting but think about for years.

The mystery, unexplained till the final pages, consists of the precise nature of a sex scandal that has led to the closing of an exclusive preparatory school in Coldmouth, England. Relentless probing into character—his own—is done by Hugo Fletcher, a pathetic figure of a teacher "pestered by the past," who had sunk his 12 years' savings into the school, sight unseen, just before it failed.

Miss Manning's deft, unobtrusive skill comes into play as she steadily interweaves a revealing flashback into Hugo's early life with the next step toward his puzzle's solution. Thus the story line advances smoothly in two directions at once.



Olivia Manning

Coldmouth—a bleak, cruel, aptly named city—exerts on human lives an influence as baleful as that of Thomas Hardy's Egdon Heath. Most of Miss Manning's very human, unheroic characters curse their fates because they ever left London, the sea or the Upper Nile.

At the end, a suggestion of hope is held out only for Hugo, who had returned from Egypt to his birthplace in order to buy himself some slight social status and a place as a master in the school that, in its failure, wiped him out.

Lacking strong qualifications for teaching, Hugo turns squatter, sponging on the feckless headmaster and his wife. Meanwhile, Hugo compulsively unravels the past, his own and the school's.

This modern low-born Hamlet would have been a hard man to warm up to if encountered outside the pages of a novel. From economic motivation he has become a grasper, a schemer, a brooding nourisher of grievances, real and fancied. Miss Manning seems to suggest that his frustration in his only love affair and in his work is related psychologically to his self-inflicted handicap of hurt feelings.

So great is Miss Manning's power that in her unsympathetic protagonist she manages to enlist and steadily to increase the reader's sympathies. Americans introduced to this consummate craftsman, one of the best of living English novelists, by her tenderly told love story, "The Doves of Venus," may be surprised by the somber, enigmatic mood of "A Different Face." But they can hardly escape taking delight in her continued exploitation of her gift of fresh observation.

Miss Manning's figures of speech are so apt that one is likely to ask himself why he has never thought of them before.

The New Force

NUCLEAR ENERGY IN THE SOUTH, edited by Redding Sugg Jr. (Louisiana State University Press, 151 pgs., $3.50.)

This book is the result of a resolution of the 1955 Southern Governors' Conference to study the application of nuclear energy to their region.

In covering the applications of this new force to power production for industry and consumers, agriculture, medicine and public health and the problems incident to "educated manpower," the authors have crystalized an interesting social picture of the impact of nuclear energy on the people and the region.

News of the Churches in the St. Louis Area

METHODISTS PLAN WESLEY SERVICE

By JOHN T STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch

Eleven Methodist churches in the south St. Louis area will take part in a special service Sunday, Jan. 19, commemorating the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of Charles Wesley, some of whose 6500 hymns are sung by Christian congregations around the world every Sunday.

The Wesley service will be held at 7:45 p.m. at Kingshighway Methodist Church, Bellerive boulevard and Colorado avenue, of which the Rev. Marvin Fortel is pastor. Two other Methodist churches of the Carondelet area and their pastors are co-sponsoring the service; Zion Church, Koeln and Virginia avenues, the Rev. Noel Clark Holt; and Mellow Memorial Church, 6701 Virginia avenue, the Rev. A. Lee Hughes.

Other Methodist churches which will take part in the services are St. Luke's Scruggs Memorial, Christy Memorial, Concord-Trinity, Union Memorial, Marvin Memorial, and Fenton.

The speaker will be the Rev. Monk Bryan, pastor of Missouri Methodist Church, Columbia, Mo., former pastor of St. Luke's Methodist Church, St. Louis.

A feature of the service will be congregational singing of Charles Wesley hymns under the direction of the Rev. Dr. Sidney Stringham, pastor of St. Andrew's Methodist Church, DeSoto, Mo. He is a former pastor of three Methodist churches in St. Louis; Epworth, Shaw Avenue, and Cabanne churches.

Charles Wesley (1707-1788) was the youngest brother of John Wesley, founder of Methodism. "The organizing genius of John Wesley and the hymns of Charles Wesley kept Methodism alive and growing in the Eighteenth century," according to a church historian.

THE REV. GORDON PRICE WILL RETURN TO OHIO

The Rev. Gordon S. Price will leave St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Ferguson, shortly after Easter to become rector of Christ Church, Dayton, O., it was announced this week. He has been rector of St. Stephen's Church since 1950, coming here from Columbus, O., where he was assistant rector of Trinity Church.

NOW, newspaper of the Diocese of Missouri, carries in its current issue a tribute to "the leadership" of the Rev. Mr. Price:

"In 1950, St. Stephen's Church was a small frame building on the corner of Clay and Darst streets. An old rectory stood behind it, but the lower floor had been converted into church school classrooms. A new parish house had recently been completed on the Darst avenue side of the church. The communicant list included 328 names.

"Today the rector and his family reside in a commodious rectory a block away. The old church and rectory church school house have been torn down and in their place stands the new St. Setphen's Church, with plenty of space for the 527 communicants and their families, which now comes to a grand total of 1041 persons."

Mr. Latham, 79 years old, died of cancer Thursday at Gravois Rest Haven on Gravois road in St. Louis county. He was attached to the Ruskin Avenue District at retirement and before that to the Carr Street District. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Tessa Lindsey Latham, and a son, Leroy Latham.

PRESBYTERIANS ASK GIFTS BE DOUBLED

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 11 [illegible]—The Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., embarked this month on a "five-year-plan" that many denominations would consider hopelessly idealistic.

It is asking its 3,000,000 members to double their total giving to church work by 1962.

The Presbyterian have the best possible reason for believing it can be done: they've done it before.

In 1950, the so-called northern Presbtyerians were giving about $100,000,000 a year for local, national and foreign enterprises of their church. Last year, they gave more than $220,000,000.

Although the denomination has grown during that period, most of the jump in its budget reflects more generous giving.

The present per capita giving figure of $72.03 a year is one of the highest to be found in major Protestant bodies. It compares, for example with $52.79 for Episcopalians, $43.82 for Methodists, and $48.17 for Southern Baptists.

CATHEDRAL WILL HEAR MISSIONARY TO JAPAN

The Rev. Donald E. Bitsberger, missionary to Japan of the Episcopal Church, will be guest preacher tomorrow at Christ Church Cathedral, Thirteenth and Locust streets. He will address the church school at 9:20 a.m., and will give the sermon at the 11 a.m. service at the cathedral.

The Rev. Mr. Bitsberger has lived in Japan since 1955, and is assigned to the Episcopal Church at Fukuoka, largest city on the Island of Kyushu, in the southwester part of Japan. Mrs. Mitsberger is the daughter of William Stix Friedman, 17 Brazillian Court, Ladue.

The Bitsbergers studied Japanese at the Yale Institute of Far Eastern Languages, New Haven, Conn., before going to Japan. They will return to Japan in the spring for another three-year term of duty.

Dr. Jones in Texas.

The Rev. Dr. G. Curtis Jones, pastor of Union Avenue Christian Church, will conduct a preaching mission at Harlingen, Tex., tomorrow through Thursday. The annual preaching mission is sponsored by the ministerial association of Harlingen, and this year will be at First Baptist Church.

BISHOP BYRNE TO LEAD GROUP ON LOURDES TRIP

More than 6,000,000 pilgrims are expected to visit Lourdes, famous Catholic shrine in France, in 1958, according to estimates based on travel arrangements already made.

This year marks the 100th anniversary of the shrine, and Pope Pius XII has proclaimed a year of jubilee.

Bishop Leo C. Byrne, auxiliary bishop of St. Louis, will be spiritual director of a pilgrimage from this area which will leave New York May 16.

Pope Pius has announced a plenary indulgence for all who visit the shrine and receive the sacraments of penance and the communion, and pray for Christian unity, the salvation of sinners, for peace and church freedom.

Travel bureaus have estimated that more than 100,000 American Catholics will make the pilgrimage to Lourdes this year. The first group will leave Buffalo, N. Y., later this month.

MRS. DOUGLAS APPOINTED NEW DIRECTOR OF B.R.O.

Mrs. Nell Bullard Douglas is the new executive director of the Board of Religious Organizations, it was announced this week. She succeeded Mrs. Robert K. Schnure, who resigned after serving as director for six years.

The B.R.O. represents more than 130 Protestant and Jewish churches in St. Louis.

Mrs. Douglas is public affairs chairman of the Business and Professional Women's Club of St. Louis, and holds the same position in the women's club of Third Baptist Church. She is past president of the Missouri Pacific Women's Club, and has served as chairman of the Group Action Council; she is a member of the League of Women Voters, and a former president of Unit 590, American Legion Auxiliary, Tenth District of Missouri.

As director of B.R.O., Mrs. Douglas this week opened a drive for membership, working with Mrs. D. J. Hindle, chairman of the membership committee. January has been designated as the month for churches and philanthropic organizations to highlight the work of B.R.O.

The Rev. Mr. Donovan is a native of St. Louis, and a graduate of Washington University and of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass. Since his graduation from the theological school in 1955, he has been vicar of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Sikeston.

Mrs. Donovan is the daughter of Mrs. Cara Dawson, parish secretary of Grace Episcopal Church, Kirkwood.

This mass was started at St. John's Hospital 13 years ago, and now is offered in many hospitals throughout the country on the Feast of the Holy Family.

The white mass, besides giving thanks for no obstetrical deaths, also recognizes advances in medical science and treatment of obstetrical cases.

At the same service, Bishop Frank baptized seven other persons and received 16 persons into church membership.

Hawks Take on Celtics Here Tonight After 124-93 Rout in Philly

Tom Gola, Warriors Pour in 40 1st Period

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11—The Philadelphia Warriors are no respecters of persons—or teams.

The figures show the St. Louis Hawks are in first place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division and the Warriors in last place in the Eastern race but you would never know it from the way the Warriors treat the Hawks.

The St. Louis team last night went down to defeat for the eleventh straight time in the "city of brotherly love" as the Quakers roared to a 124-93 victory before 4327 fans in the second game of an N.B.A. doubleheader. And, this time the Warriors rubbed it in by tying their home-court record of 40 points in a single period.

Lakers End Losing Streak.

In the twin-bill opener, the Minneapolis Lakers ended a six-game losing streak by whipping the Detroit Pistons, 124-114.

The Hawks returned to St. Louis, where tonight they take on the Boston Celtics, the Eastern leaders, in a 8:30 game at Kiel Auditorium. The Hawks won the last two meetings with the Celtics, but Boston has a 3-2 edge.

The triumph moved the Warriors within two games of the third-place New York Knickerbockers, who lost to the Cincinnati Royals, 107-104, in the Ohio city. The Royals remained eight-and-one-half games behind the Hawks in the Western race.

St. Louis was out of contention right from the start. The Warriors raced to a 40-19 lead in the first period as Tom Gola completely befuddled the Western leaders with his ball-handling, steals and scoring. Philadelphia led by as much as 29 points in the first half and the Hawks never could catch up.

The Warriors outscored the Hawks 27-23 in the second periodw for a 67-42 halftime edge. The closets the visitors came was in the third period when they cut the margin to 14.

Hawk Coach Alex Hannum summed it up pretty well when he said, "We just couldn't compete with their first-half shooting. They hit on 15 of 27 tries in that first period while we hit on six of 22. Then too Cliff Hagan picked up three fast personals in that period trying to guard Paul Arizin and I had to bench him."

Hagan was used sparingly the rest of the game and no one could take up the scoring slack for the Hawks. Win Wilfong and Charlie Share gave it a good try with 15 each, one more than Easy Ed Macauley got. Bob Pettit made 10.

21 Points for Arizin.

Arizin was high for the Warriors with 21 points while rookie Lennie Rosenbluth was runner-up with 19.

In the first game, at Philadelphia, Minneapolis pulled out to a 10-point lead in the third period and then clung to it during a hard-fought fourth session to beat Detroit. Dick Garmaker and Larry Foust of the Lakers and George Yardley of the Pistons each had 23 points.

At Cincinnati, the Royals rallied from a 104-101 deficit with 60 seconds left to score six straight points and beat the Knicks, three each by George King and Clyde Lovellette. Big Lovellette took scoring honors with 34 points.

It was the twenty-first consecutive game in which the Knicks have scored more than 100 points.

Lakers Here tomorrow.

Tonight's game with the champion Celtics will be the first of three in four days at Kiel for the Hawks. The Hawks will play the Minneapolis Lakers tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock and will oppose the Philadelphia Warriors in a doubleheader program Tuesday night. New York and Cincinnati will meet in Tuesday's opener.

Emmett Kelly, former circus clown, will make his usual Sunday appearance and children and high school students will be admitted for 75 cents.

Big Bill Russell was scheduled for another examination today to determine if he will be able to play with the Celtics against the Hawks. Boston's team physician, Dr. Edward R. Browne, examined the center's injured ankle yesterday and taped it tightly, but said he would have to take another look before giving Russell permission to play.

Bills Make Experiments For Drake Game Tonight

By Robert Morrison
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 11—A new lineup combination was indicated for the St. Louis University Billikens as they begin the Missouri Valley Conference phase of their basketball campaign by playing Drake University tonight at 8:15.

Coach Eddie Hickey was looking for increased scoring as well as power on the boards when he moved ace scorer Jack Mimlitz to the back line with Jim Dailey and made up a front line of Steve Redshaw, Bob Ferry and George Burkel.

This benched Rich Rogers, who got one point in the loss Wednesday at Louisville U., restored tall sophomore Burkel to a starting forward spot despite his lack of scoring, and gave Redshaw another starting shot.

It Takes Time.

"Redshaw was starting his first college game at Louisville and deserves a chance to get settled despite his mistakes in that game," Hickey said after a long workout here last night. Burkel, he added, must get more play to gain confidence.

But the man who will be watched most closely by Drake is Mimlitz, frequently called by Hickey the best shooter St. Louis ever had. Mimlitz currently is averaging 18.4 points per game.

It will be interesting to see what Drake does about containing Mimlitz. The Bulldogs of John Benington have produced one remarkable defensive job against another hotshot this season. They trimmed down Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson to 16 points here Dec. 28, in a game the Bearcats won by two points, 74-72. Robertson now is averaging 32.1 after his record 56 at New York Thursday night.

A Guard with Handcuffs.

Bill Lanke, a 6-2 guard, was the Drake player who hounded Robertson man-to-man while the other Bulldogs played a zone. It would not be surprising to see the same strategy employed against Mimlitz and the Bills, who encountered the same problem in losing to North Carolina in the Dixie Classic at Raleigh.

While Drake will be concentrating on Mimlitz, St. Louis will have to keep a weather eye on the Bulldogs' Red Murrell. The jump-shooting Drake forward, ninth-ranking scorer in the latest major college statistics, is averaging 25.1 points per game.

Neither St. Louis, defending champion in the Valley, nor Drake has an impressive won-lost record, but either could be tough. St. Louis is a slight favorite to extend its series streak of 18 consecutive victories, but will be playing for the first time on the Veterans Memorial Auditorium court. All previous games in the series were at the old Drake Field House.

Challedon, 22, Twice Named Horse of Year, Dies at Lexington

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 11 (AP)—Challedon, sixth on the list of world's leading money-winning horses when he retired to stud in 1942, died yesterday at Ira Drymon's farm near here.

The 22-year-old horse, owned by a syndicate, died after suffering a broken foreleg.

Racing for W. L. Brann, the son of Challenger II-Laura Gal earned $334,660 with 20 wins in 44 starts and was horse of the year in 1939 and 1940.

His victories included the Pimlico Futurity, Preakness, Hawthorne Gold Cup, Hollywood Gold Cup, Whitney Stakes, Pimlico Special and Havre de Grace Handicap. Challedon was second to Johnstown in the 1939 Kentucky Derby, but reversed the verdict in the Preakness.

His get have earned about $3,000,000. They include Donor, Shy Guy, Ancestor and Challe Anne.

McBride Express Wins.

Paced by Bob Heimann with 30 points, McBride Express upset Fix-Mix, 95-78, in a St. Louis Independent Basketball Association game at Salvation Army Hall. It was McBride's third victory. Bob Winkleman led the losers with 18 points. A total of 68 fouls were called.

Remember? 5...15...25 YEARS AGO

1953—With six players scoring in double figures, Tulsa defeated St. Louis University in basketball for the first time in eight years, 86-73, at Tulsa.

1943—Alfred Perry and Laverne Dahm, 18-year-old high school students, won the featured titles at the Silver Skates carnival at The Arena.

1933 — Tommy Loughran, 187 pound former light-heavyweight champion, outpointed King Levinsky, 12 pounds heavier, at Philadelphia.

No Retirement Plan For Stan The Man

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (INS). NO hope is in sight for the National League's pitching fraternity. Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinal great, says he won't retire after the 1958 season.

The perennial batting champion of the league, aged 37, said yesterday that he has decided to go on playing indefinitely."

"I feel I can still hit .300 for a few more years," Musial said, "and I've decided to go on playing as long as I feel I can hit .300."

Musial, seven-time National League batting king, needs one more title to tie Honus Wagner's record. Musial needs only 43 hits to reach a career total of 3000.

Musial was honored here yesterday by Sports Illustrated magazine as sportsman of the year.

Smith Scores Kayo in Bout With Miceli

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (UP)—Charles (Tombstone) Smith, who made an impressive Eastern debut last night, said today, "I'll certainly remember to warm up before my next fight," probably with Sugar Hart late next month.

Smith, Los Angeles welterweight contender, stopped New York's Joe Miceli in the seventh round of their return bout at Madison Square Garden. Each weighed 149 pounds.

But 24-year-old Tombstone was so excited before his first national network TV appearance that he forgot to warm up in the dressing room. As a result, he took a pasting from Miceli in the first three rounds, "before I got hot," he explained.

The crowd was estimated at 2000 and the gate at $6000.

Veteran Miceli, who had been outpointed by Smith at Los Angeles last March 7 and who was a 4-1 underdog last night, threatened to register a major upset in the first three frames as he blasted six-foot Smith with left uppercuts and left hooks, and gashed the corner of his right eye in the second round. None of the three ring officials gave Smith a single round until the fourth.

The warmed-up Tombstone went to work on Miceli in the fourth with body smashes and head shots that slowed him up, brought blood to his nose and staggered him once. That battering continued during the next three sessions, and the floundering Miceli lost his mouthpiece three times and suffered cuts on both brows and on his under lip.

There were no knockdowns, but when Miceli went to his corner at the close of action in the seventh, he was "in no condition to continue," according to Dr. Alexander Schiff, who advised Referee Al Berl to stop the fight.

Because Berl stopped it before the bell could ring to start the eighth session, the result was called a seventh-round technical knockout, according to New York state rules.

Goetz New President Of Players' Group

CINCINNATI, Jan. 11 (AP)—Directors of the Ballplayers of Yesterday Association have named Larry Goetz of Cincinnati, retired National League umpire, president of the group.

The action came at the director's meeting.

The directors also made plans for a dinner to honor Third Baseman Don Hoak, the association choice for the most valuable Cincinnati Redleg of 1957.

Tucker Leads St. Louisans in Bowling Meet

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 11—St. Louis bowlers took home more than their share of cash prizes as the record field of 288 bowlers participated in the annual "Prevue of Stars," opening of the seventeenth annual B.P.A.A. All-Star tournament in the Minneapolis National Guard Armory last night.

All 288 bowlers shot two "practice games" as they competed for some $3600 in prize money.

South Favored In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 11 (INS)—The South was established as a one-point favorite to defeat the North College All-Stars when the two squads meet today in the ninth annual Senior Bowl football game at Mobile, Ala. (The game will be televised by KSD-TV Channel 5.)

The South is expected to rely heavily on its air might.

Both teams, boasting some of the nation's top runners, concentrated more on the fundamentals of the pass-offense and defense in the final few days of practice than on a running game.

South Coach Paul Brown emphasized long passing as practice ended and the North coach, Joe Kuharich, was intent on developing the best pass-defense combination.

The North, averaging 209 pounds, will outweigh Brown's Rebels by some five pounds a man. But Brown, coach of the professional Cleveland Browns, said the weight factor is minor in the ultimate outcome.

Kuharich, coach of the pro Washington Redskins, said his 1957 seniors will give him a much stronger team than he had for the game last year.

The South won the 1957 contest, 21 to 7.

Devore Out as Eagles' Coach

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11 (UP)—The Philadelphia Eagles announced today that Hugh Devore has been relieved of his duties as head football coach, effective immediately.

The announcement by Frank McNamee, president of the National Football League club, said that while "we have high regard for him (Devore), we feel it is in the best interest of the Eagles that we make the change."

The Philadelphia club wound up in the basement in 1956 during Devore's first year and finished next to last this season. Devore's overall record was 7-1-16.

McNamee said Devore's contract which will conclude in 1959 will be honored.

To Honor Veterans.

Eleven members will be honored at a dinner at the Concordia Gymnastic Society at Concordia Turner Hall this evening starting at 6 o'clock.

Artie Eilers, Fred W. Beck and A. F. Kaiser will be honored for 50 years membership in the organization. Those with 40 years of membership are Theodore Bierdeman, Adolph Dehner, A. C. Gillman and Fred Thieleman. Honored for 25 years of membership will be Charles Alfeld, Walter Johanning, William Peche and Alfred Ruth.

High School Soccer.

In high school soccer, C.B.C. defeated Prep Seminary, 3-1, and a High School League game; St. Louis U. High won from Ladue, 2-0 in High School League games. Country Day and John Burroughs played to a scoreless tie in an A.B.C. League A game. In B games, Country Day trimmed Burroughs, 2-1 and the Junior Bills nipped Ladue, 1-0.

Johnny Layton scored two goals for C.B.C., while Joe Murphy, Prep back, kicked one into his own goal. Marty Mannion scored for Prep. Tom Trigg and Terry Malone tallied for St. Louis U. High, Winston Morris (2) and William Briggs were the goal getters in the Country Day - Burroughs B game.

Fail and Arends in Workouts For Silver Skates Tomorrow

By Neal Russo

Stan Fail and Dave Arends, two of the many out-of-towners who have stuffed their trophy cases with prizes from the St. Louis Silver Skates, were among the early birds who joined the host squad in a workout last night at The Arena.

Most of the others among the 40 non-St. Louisans in the thirty-third annual Silver Skates Carnival are likely to arrive here today for the meet scheduled tomorrow at 2 p.m. at The Arena.

Before the program of 20 races and figure skating and barrel jumping exhibitions gets under way tomorrow, the speed boys and girls will go through about 20 elimination heats. These will be held at The Arena, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Fail, Paramount (Calif.) star who won the Southwest Open intermediate crown here in 1954, then took the senior honors a year later at the age of 18, appears to be in better condition than he was for some time.

Although his doughnut-shop job has him getting up at 2:30 a.m. and retiring at 6 p.m., Fail has been working out regularly. In three recent meets, he was first in the Los Angeles Silver Skates (beating Bill Disney) and was runner-up to Disney in the others.

Fail brought along another Paramount (Calif.) prospect—tall Buddy Campbell, who is in the junior division.

Arends, a freshman back at Cornell (Ia.) College the past football season, said he plans to concentrate on the sprints in track. A perennial champion in the Post-Dispatch sponsored Silver Skates, Arends was accompanied by another Cedar Rapids veteran, junior Eddie Minder, a former winner here.

Other senior standouts who will try to dethrone Disney, Southwest Open winner last year, include: Ken LeBel of Lake Placid, N.Y.; Jim Campbell of Chicago and Bob Olson of Glendale, Calif.

Hayes Alan Jenkins, former world champion, will be among the four figure skaters who will give exhibitions. LeBel will jump barrels in addition to competing.

Tickets are available at The Arena and Arcade Building box offices.

Concordia and Blackburn Play Here Tonight

Both Concordia Seminary and Blackburn College will be seeking their sixth victory of the basketball season when they meet tonight at 8:30 at the Concordia field house, San Bonita and Concordia lane.

It will be the first start for the Preachers since Dec. 14, when they defeated Carthage, 85-73, to complete a 5-1 pre-holiday record. The Blackburn Beavers are 5 and 4 and again are led by senior forward Pete Hughes, who last season averaged 29 points against Concordia in two games.

Hughes, 6-2, has a capable frontline mate in Jim McClure, 6-3, also a good scorer and rebounder. Jack Eisenbarth, Drew Thurston and Gary Craigmiles are likely to be other starters for the Carlinville (Ill.) team.

Joe Hauser and Dennis Hartman are Concordia's most dangerous scorers, Hartman with a 17.2 average and Hauser with 15.8. Three seniors rounding out the starting Blue and White lineup are Dave Joeckel, Hal Rast and Paul Hein.

Last season the Preachers and Blackburn broke even in two meetings.

Tarkio Five Rallies To Defeat Central

TARKIO, Mo., Jan. 11 (AP)—The Tarkio Owls finished strong in defeating Central, 79-71, in an M.C.A.U. basketball game.

Central held a 42-34 halftime lead and still was in front, 60-57, with 10 minutes left. Then Tarkio began rolling.

High scorer was Central's Bob Iglehart with 23 points. Bob Gaines made 19 for Tarkio.

140 Score for Dutch Harrison In Coast Golf

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Jan. 11 (UP)—Golf's big money players, having spotted Bobby Rosburg a five-stroke lead in the $50,000 national pro-amateur golf tournament, take out after the sensational young pro today on Pebble Beach—the course noted for separating the men from the boys.

Rosburg, enjoying a remarkable streak of putting and driving skill, went into the third round of Bing Crosby's tourney five shots ahead of one of the hottest men in the game, Billy Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., and six in front of veteran Tommy Bolt of Los Angeles.

Veteran E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis was eight strokes off the pace at 140. Defending Champion Jay Hebert had 141.

Rosburg added a 67 on Cypress Point yesterday to an opening round of 65 for a 132 total—11 strokes under par for the 36 holes played, with the same number still to go.

"I've had exactly 56 putts on those 36 holes," he said. "Don't know how long this can keep up. But I hope it stays with me."

Casper's 66 yesterday was the best of the tournament on Cypress Point. (Rosburg got his 65 opening day on Monterey Country Club, which is supposed to be a stroke or so easier). That gave Casper 137.

Bolt had 68 opening day and followed with a one-under-par 71.

Cleveland Swimmers Win Over Central

Cleveland won a Public High League dual swimming meet from Central yesterday in the losers' pool, 63 to 25.

Gary Lutker won the 100-yard backstroke and the individual medley relay for the South Side school. Others who took individual events and were in winning relay teams were Bob Birke, Roland Hawkins, Donald Mohr and Roger Beuc.

Roosevelt High defeated O'Fallon Tech, 80-7, in another meet, while Ladue trounced Principia, 60-26, and Normandy beat St. Louis U. High, 47-39.

Junior Bills, U. City Stay in Grooves

St. Louis Again Has 77-Point Triumph

By Harold Tuthill

So many newsworthy things happened in prep basketball last night that it's a little difficult to select one game as outstanding. Most interesting from a standpoint of consistency, however, was St. Louis U. High's 77-48 triumph over Crystal City in a game that perpetuated the Junior Billiken winning streak.

They not only have won 12 in succession, being the only unbeaten team in the area, but they also have scored 77 points in four straight games which should rate a spot in "Our Own Oddities." Emmett Hanick's regular five of Mike Craven, Tom Kieffer, Bill (Moose) Nordmann, Neil Mulcahy and Mike Farris broke loose with a 23-point second quarter to take a 35-20 lead at the intermission over a Crystal City team that seems destined to improve. The Junior Bills finally won, 77-48.

Kieffer scored 16 points, Craven 13 and Mulcahy 12 as long as Coach Hanick permitted them to remain in the lineup. When the second and third stringers took over they built up a substantial margin, but it needed a 2-1 situation for the Blue and White to register 77. With just seconds to play, Russ Kraeger was fouled in the act of shooting a field goal and his subsequent free throw brought the Junior Bills up to the magic number.

Bill Bradley, a 6-3 freshman, led Arvel Popp's Hornets from the Mineral Area with 20 points.

Burroughs Heard From.

John Burroughs, for the past couple of winters only a ghost of its former great self, scored its first victory in regular season play since the spring of 1956 when it won from its arch rival, Country Day, 52-37, on the Bomber floor.

Giving the Bombers a lift in their ABC League opener was Jud Calkins who hit nine two-hand set shots and added two free throws for 20 points. John Burroughs played without Earl (Butch) Buchholz, who has dropped out of basketball to concentrate on tennis.

Collinsville improved its Southwestern Conference position to 4-0 as it thumped Alton, 56-39, but the real surprise came when the Russell-less Belleville team nipped Edwardsville, 51-50, on Larry Patton's goal with two seconds to play. Wood River, now 3-0 in the circuit, had to work for its 59-56 triumph at East St. Louis.

McBride, the defending champion of the Catholic Athletic Conference, posted its second triumph, a 70-47 decision over St. Mary's, but other first round winners were tumbled as Mercy bowed to Du Bourg, 54-45 and Laboure lost to De Andreis, 62-56.

Chaminade Wins.

Chaminade gained its second Catholic League triumph in three days, a 67-47 decision over Coyle. Belleville Cathedral, unbeaten through 28 C.L. contests, took a non-league verdict from Marquette, 103-46.

Across the river, one of the big surprises of the Madison-Bond-Clinton Conference was sprung by a St. Paul of Highland team which was all keyed up for its homecoming as it nipped Aviston, 50-48, in a thriller that almost wrecked the St. Paul gym. With the score tied at 48-58 Tom Krapf scored his only goal of the evening to give St. Paul the decision, its sixth in eight league games. Aviston was dropped to 7-1.

Highland edged out Madison, 68-61, and Roxana shaded Cahokia, 54-48, in Mid-Western Conference engagements, while Freeburg defeated Mascoutah, 63-48, and Waterloo nosed out New Athens, 55-50, in Cahokia Conference games. Steelville won over Marissa, 58-44, in the Chartres Conference.

Miami Captain to Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 11 (AP) — Halfback John Varone, captain of last year's University of Miami football team, has been signed to a 1958 contract by the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Varone, fourth draft choice of the San Francisco Forty-Niners of the National Football League, is 21 and weighs 187.

Pomerantz Riddle Is Kirkwood Downfall

By John J. Archibald

The struggle to find a defense against Sandy Pomerantz continues, but the subject is still open to suggestion. Kirkwood's veteran strategist, Denver Miller, tried something new in his team's second appearance against Sandy and his University City High buddies last night. The result in the Suburban League game was much the same as in the Normandy tournament semi-final a few weeks ago, however, with Pomerantz leading the Indians to another victory, 51-44, over Kirkwood.

There was one upset among the six Suburban games played. Long-time cellar dweller Wellston handed Maplewood a 78-50 beating, with bespectacled Marvin Hutt tossing in 31 points aaginst the Leafs. DeWayne Bond made 30 points as St. Charles defeated Webster Groves, 76-70.

Brentwood joined University City as the only two time winners in Suburban play by defeating Ritenour, 58-51. Ladue suffered its second overtime loss of the week when Ferguson spurted in the extra session to win, 63-58. Normandy won from Clayton, 54-44.

Quick-Change Artists.

Coach Denver Miller's anti-Sandy plans included a quick-changing set of defensive styles. When U. City brought the ball downcourt it was never sure which defense Kirkwood would try, as the Pioneers switched frequently from one of several zones to man-to-man and then perhaps a combination of both.

University City's defense against Ron Bodtke and other Kirkwood shooters was more conventional, but effective. The Indians took a 10-7 lead after the first quarter and managed a 22-18 edge as the carefully played half ended. Pomerantz, who went into the game with a 36-point average, was held to four field goals and 11 points during the first two quarters, but Kirkwood's Bodtke scored only four points.

The third quarter was more of the same, but Coach Lloyd Brewen's U. City team seemed to be pulling away as it led at the final intermission, 34-27.

That's when Kirkwood decided to give up its cautious approach and score. It looked like a wise decision as the Pioneers made seven straight points and tied the game at 34-34 in just one and one-half minutes. The wall-to-wall crowd of nearly 2000 at the U. City gym went into an uproar.

And Along Came Sandy.

Pomerantz, who had been noticeably sluggish until then because of the after-effects of a case of measles he had earlier in the week, took charge. Sandy broke the tie with a successful free throw, then hit on three consecutive jump shots from the head of the key. And just like that U. City had a six-point lead, 41-35.

A few moments later Pomerantz finally missed one of his jumps, but followed the ball and tipped it in for his fourth basket of the quarter. Pomerantz drove in for his fifth fielder near the end of the game, and Kirkwood couldn't catch up.

Pomerantz had 12 points in the final period and 27 for the game, the first time this season that he has gone under the 30 mark. Steve Schneiderman added 13 points. Bodtke's 14 were high for Kirkwood.

EPPING PICTURED BY DEFENSE AS 'WHIPPING BOY'

By ROBERT H. COLLINS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 11—Edward A. Epping, executive assistant to former Illinois State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, was portrayed today both as "the biggest whipping boy the State of Illinois has ever seen" and as a power behind the scenes in Hodge's office.

The conflicting descriptions were given by Robert H. Rice, Epping's attorney, and J. Waldo Ackerman, state's attorney of Sangamon county, in their final arguments to a circuit court jury here. The case was expected to go to the jury later today.

Epping is on trial on charges of forgery, operation of a confidence game and embezzlement in connection with the handling of an allegedly fraudulent state check. The trial is being heard by a jury of nine women and three men in the court of Judge DeWitt S. Crow.

Under indictment in connection with 45 other transactions involving allegedly bogus state warrants, Epping already is serving a four-to-five year prison term for conspiring to steal more than $637,000 from the state. Hodge is serving a 12-to-15 year penitentiary term and Edward A. Hintz, former president of the Southmoor Bank & Trust Co., a one-to-three year sentence for their parts in the $1,500,000 scandal.

Rice stressed that the state failed to show Epping was guilty of any of the charges brought against him in handling the check. The attorney placed the blame on others, adding:

"Epping was the fall guy, who was involved in a chain of circumstances by the others so the blame could be placed on him if they were ever found out."

In contrast, Ackerman told the jury that Epping assumed "tight control" over the handling and issuing of all state warrants by the auditor's office soon after becoming associated with Hodge.

Epping was a partner of F.M. Mersinger & Co., East St. Louis accounting firm employed by Hodge to perform auditing work for the state office.

Shortly after Epping's employment, Ackerman said that Hodge called in one of his employes and said: "When Mr. Epping speaks, he speaks for me."

Testimony showed that Epping would inspect personally all of the state warrants or checks issued each day by the auditor's office, Ackerman stated. The attorney said Epping kept some warrants out of the normal mailing routine of the office, an action that he described as "a strange procedure."

Ackerman told the jury that testimony showed Epping set up a procedure under which fraudulent state checks were prepared, cashed and the proceeds diverted to Hodge's personal household expenses. Reading from a voucher of these expenses, he said it listed such items as: "Whisky, $265; groceries, $47, and meats, $38."

Loyal to Hodge.

Testimony in the trial which opened Monday, ended yesterday. Epping, final witness to testify, admitted that he prepared job contracts and typed vouchers to cover allegedly fraudulent state warrants.

He said he performed these and other functions because "I was loyal to Hodge and that's why I am serving four to five (years) at Menard (Ill.) prison."

The 39-year-old former Lebanon (Ill.) resident denied that he prepared or assisted in the preparation of any fraudulent state warrants. The state contends that bogus warrants or checks, made out to a variety of payees, were cashed and the proceeds channeled into the secret "brown envelope" account maintained by Hodge.

Epping denied ever seeing a check for $11,416 made out to Elmer J. Bretz, a contractor here. The charges against Epping were based on the handling of this check. A previous witness testified that Epping brought the check to the Southmoor Bank & Trust Co. in Chicago on Jan. 27, 1956, cashed it there and received the proceeds.

Admitting that he made frequent trips to the Southmoor Bank, where most of the allegedly fraudulent checks were cashed, Epping contended that the purpose of the trips was to deliver securities for loans obtained by Hodge or to leave there personal checks from Hodge or Hodge's wife.

Epping admitted he knew "wrongs" were committed in the auditor's office but contended he first learned of them after an investigation of the office was started by newspaper reporters. Similarily he professed not to know of the existence of the "brown envelope" account until the Hodge scandal began unfolding.

In a report yesterday to the Sangamon county (Illinois) circuit court, State Auditor Elbert S. Smith said receipts totaling $619,493 have been obtained from the disposition of assets turned over to the state by Hodge. He said assets still to be disposed of total nearly $100,000 although some are of questionable value, he added.

Life For Killing Officer.

ROCKINGHAM, N.C., Jan. 11 (AP)—A Rockingham county court jury yesterday convicted Frank Edward Wetzel, New York ex-convict, of first degree murder of a North Carolina highway patrolman. The jury of 10 men and two women, which debated more than three hours, recommended mercy. Judge J. A. Rousseau immediately sentenced him to life in prison.

HEARING ON RED CHARGES AGAINST UEW IS HELD UP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Subversive Activities Control Board decided yesterday to suspend, for the time being, a hearing on allegations by the Government that the United States Electrical Workers Union has been infiltrated by Communists.

The decision was the direct result of a United States Court of Appeals ruling Thursday ordering further proceedings in the Government's seven-year-old effort to have the Communist party register as a subversive organization.

The board decided that the hearing on the United Electrical Workers, which has been in recess since last spring due to pending procedural motions, should not be resumed until the Communist party case is resolved.

The board did not say so, but it is believed probable that other pending cases may be held up until it disposes of the Communist party case. Among cases pending are:

Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, alleged by the Justice Department to be Communist-infiltrated, and Washington (state) Pension Union and American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, accused of being Red fronts.

FIRST SAHARA OIL REACHES PORT BY RAIL AND PIPELINE

PARIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—The French News Agency reported today that the long awaited first shipment of Sahara crude oil has arrived at the Mediterranean port of Philippeville, Algeria.

A freight train with four tank cars of the oil has been slowly making its way northward for several days. Two days ago Algerian rebels mined the track and derailed part of another train. Hasty repairs were made to permit passage of the oil train. French troops have been guarding the rail line which brought the oil about 275 miles northward from Touggourt. The oil reached Touggourt from the Hassi-Messaoud oil fields over a 125-mile pipeline.

For several months, the French have been working overtime to bring the oil out of the Sahara.

JAPANESE MAN EXPOSED IN 1945 A-BOMB BLAST DIES

HIROSHIMA, Japan, Jan. 11 (UP)—A 44-year-old man who died here today was described by Japanese doctors as "the first 1958 casualty of the atomic bomb" which wrecked this city in August 1945.

Yoshiyuki Goto was exposed to radiation while helping to recover bodies from the ruins of Hiroshima a week after the A-blast. The cause of his death was not given, but Japanese physicians believe it was connected with the radiation exposure.

Thirty-eight deaths here last year were ascribed to A-bomb after-effects.

PACIFIC TYPHOON DESTROYS ALL BUILDINGS ON ISLAND

GUAM, Jan. 11 (AP)—Jaluit island in the Marshalls group reported today all buildings on the island were destroyed by typhoon Ophelia.

The trust territory officer here said emergency funds and rations are being flown to the various stricken areas from the United States naval station at Kwajalein.

The typhoon, with 95-mile-an-hour winds, passed through Ponape and Truk in the Marshalls Saturday noon, leaving extensive damages and three injured. Jaluit was covered by three feet of water at the height of the typhoon.

Death Sentences in Bulgaria.

VIENNA, Jan. 11 (AP)—Bulgarian newspapers received here yesterday reported two officials of a nationalized trade enterprise have been sentenced to death for embezzling 250,000 lewas (about $40,000). They were sentenced by a Trnovo district court.

WEEKS PRESENTS PILOT'S LICENSE TO MRS. QUARLES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks broke precedent and presented a private pilot's license in person yesterday. It went to Mrs. Donald Quarles, wife of the deputy Secretary of Defense.

A grandmother, who took up flying a little less than a year ago, Mrs. Quarles is the first wife in top government circles to earn her wings. Weeks turned over license No. 1,400,000 to Mrs. Quarles. She passed her final flight test Thursday at Beacon field, Alexandria, Va.

Mrs. Quarles, who logged some 150,000 passenger air miles with her husband when he was Air Force Secretary, finally decided to take up flying herself. She started lessons last Jan. 30.

Her husband, who is not a pilot, "has never even seen me fly," Mrs. Quarles said and she isn't sure whether Quarles will take a ride with her now.

Stop Sign Bill

is approaching on the more heavily traveled street.

While the Barton report recommended the replacement of stop signs at 202 intersections with electric signals, Cervantes's measure did not attempt to deal with this suggestion because funds for this purpose are not immediately available.

Other Traffic Bills.

Other traffic bills introduced would create one-way travel in Seventeenth street northbound from Chestnut street to Lucas avenue; in Potomac street eastbound from Watson road to Hampton avenue; in Oleatha avenue westbound from Hampton to Watson; in Lindenwood avenue eastbound from Watson to Chippewa street, and in Smiley avenue eastbound from Jamieson to Ivanhoe avenues.

Installation of traffic lights on Skinker boulevard at Waterman and at Pershing avenues was proposed in another bill. Police officials and others have noted hazardous traffic conditions on Skinker during morning and evening rush periods.

Another traffic measure would require adjustment of the traffic light at South Grand boulevard and Lafayette avenue to permit left turns from Grand into Lafayette. Another would require a stop sign on Newstead avenue at Maryland avenue.

A number of other bills were introduced, the net effect of which would be to permit parking after 6 p.m. and until 7 a.m. on Washington avenue between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets; on Thirteenth between Washington and Lucas avenue and on Thirteenth between O'Fallon and Mullanphy streets.

Sale of $93,000 in Bonds.

A bill was offered to authorize the sale of $93,000 in bonds, which remain unsold from a $600,000 item in the $16,100,000 bond issue of 1934. The $600,000 item was for remodeling the interior of the Civil Courts building. Judges of the courts requested the Aldermen authorize the sale of the remaining bonds to provide funds for air-conditioning the assignment division, two equity courts and the domestic relations court.

Another bill that would authorize the city to lease Biddle Market on North Twelfth street to a group of merchants also was introduced.

The city water division would be authorized in another proposed measure to use a postcard system of billing customers, similar to the system used by private utilities. Conway B. Briscoe, water commissioner, said the postcard system would save $15,250 annually in postage.

One bill was passed. It would appropriate $350,000 from the 1944 bond issue for widening and paving South Broadway between Utah street and Chippewa. It also authorizes the Board of Public Service to let bids for the work.

Two vetoes by Mayor Raymond R. Tucker were overriden by unanimous vote of the board. One of actions will increase the salaries of the three lowest paid employes of the board by $75 a month. The Mayor's veto message said their present salaries were comparable with those of city employes in similar positions under civil service.

The other will permit the rezoning of property at Wright and North Florissant avenues for the construction of a filling station. The Mayor had vetoed this to prevent a commercial enterprise from coming into a residential area.

ST. LOUIS MAN KILLED, TRIED TO CROSS HIGHWAY

Jackie G. Pennell of St. Louis, was killed early today when struck by an automobile as he apparently tried to cross U.S. Highway 61 near State Highway 141 in Jefferson county, the Highway Patrol reported.

Pennell, who was 22 years old and lived at 1442A Warren street, was in the highway as two southbound machines approached. The first car swerved right into a ditch and the second, driven by Carl A. Magre of Festus, swerved left and struck Pennell, police said.

Magre and the driver of the first automobile then flagged a northbound truck driven by Paul Smith of Wichita, Kan. Smith stopped about 100 feet north of the scene of the accident and put up flares.

At that point, the Highway Patrol reported, another northbound machine driven by Curtis L. Kenner, 131 East Felton avenue, Lemay, came around a curve and skidded into the rear of Smith's truck. Kenner and a passenger, Ronald Hamman, 6608 Colorado street, suffered minor injuries.

Eddie Wright of 4349 Cozens avenue and Mrs. Marybelle Johnson, 4163 Delmar boulevard, a passenger in his automobile, suffered serious head and internal injuries shortly before 7 a.m. today when Wright's machine went out of control and ran into the side of a building at 2206 Cole street.

Both Wright, 50, and Mrs. Johnson, 49, were thrown from the automobile, which was westbound in Cole. They were taken to City Hospital. The building, occupied by Cipco Corp., a hardware manufacturing concern, was damaged.

SPACE TRAVELERS TO NEED PERFECT FILLINGS IN TEETH

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—Interplanetary commuters of the future were warned yesterday to see a good dentist before blasting off for the lonely reaches of outer space.

Dr. Maury Massler, University of Illinois professor, told an audience at the Indian University dental school that flying at extremely high altitudes can result in a monumental toothache that would make other hazards of space travel seem puny by comparison.

He explained that unless cavities are perfectly filled the reduced external pressure caused by the altitude will exert force through blood vessels that press upon the tooth nerve—much like the "bends" caused by gasses in the bloodstream in deep sea diving.

MORRO CASTLE FIRE HERO DIES IN NEW JERSEY PRISON

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

TRENTON, N.J., Jan. 11—George W. Rogers, hero radio operator of the Morro Castle disaster of 1934, died yesterday in New Jersey state prison where he was serving a life sentence for a double murder committed in 1953. He was 61 years old.

Rogers, who received wide acclaim for staying at his radio post in the burning of the luxury liner which cost 134 lives, got a job as a Bayonne policeman after a brief vaudeville tour in which he told of his exploits. In 1938, he was sentenced to 12 years for maiming a police superior.

He was released from prison in 1942 on his promise to enter military service but received a medical discharge a year later from the Navy. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1954 after he was convicted of killing two Bayonne neighbors to obtain $2400 which they had drawn from a bank.

U.S. DROPS RED CHARGES AGAINST 11 PUERTO RICANS

SAN JUAN, Jan. 11 (AP)—The United States Government dropped conspiracy indictments yesterday against 11 Puerto Ricans arrested in 1954 on charges of Communist subversion after Puerto Rican nationalists shot up Congress in Washington.

The United States district attorney's office filed a notice that the nine men and two women defendants could not be prosecuted on indictments alleging conspiracy to overthrow the government because of the Supreme Court's Jencks case decision. The court then dismissed the indictment.

The United States Supreme Court last June 3 ruled that Clifton E. Jencks was entitled to have access to FBI reports made by bureau undercover agents who testified at the former labor union official's trial on charges of lying about a Communist background.

HUNGARY WARNS GREECE ON U.S. MISSILE BASES

ATHENS, Jan. 11 (UP)—Communist Hungary has warned Greece that establishment of American missile bases on its territory constitutes "a serious threat to its security."

The Hungarian embassy announced last night that its charge d'affaires had formally protested to the Greek Foreign Ministry against NATO plans to build rocket bases equipped with atomic weapons on Greek soil. The note expressed hope there would be no rupture in Greek-Hungarian relations.

Bonn Buys British Frigates.

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The admiralty has disclosed the sale of seven World War II frigates of the Royal Navy to West Germany for $2,800,000. They are the Actaeon, Hart, Mermaid, Flamingo, Albrighton, Eggesford and Oakley, ranging from 1000 to 1490 tons.

PAY AGREED ON FOR FORT WOOD HOUSING PROJECT

Recomputation of labor costs on the $21,648,000 military housing project at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., will be undertaken immediately by the Federal Housing Administration following settlement yesterday of a dispute over carpenter wage scales which had jeopardized project plans, Alan T. Smith, chief of the St. Louis FHA office, said today.

J. W. Bateson, Dallas (Tex.) contractor and low bidder for the job, and D. Richard Adams, business manager of the St. Louis Carpenters' District Council, in a joint statement said they had agreed on a $2.80 hourly base rate, representing a compromise between the $3.45 (plus a 10-cent welfare fund contribution) local scale of the union, and the $2.25 rate on which Bateson had based his bid.

Cost recalculation is essential to determine whether construction charges will exceed the $16,500 per unit fixed by the Capehart amendment to the Housing Act, or $21,884,500 for the entire 1329-unit project planned for families of officers and enlisted personnel at the big Army training center near Rolla.

Adams said that after an all-day conference with Bateson, "We decided that $2.80 an hour was about all Mr. Bateson could pay on this job. But we have made a great sacrifice in coming down from the St. Louis scale."

Bateson, obviously pleased, said: "You could have seen collective bargaining at its utmost today. The FHA has the ball now."

Smith said Bateson called on him after the labor settlement and asked for the recomputation.

"We promised to start work immediately and give him a report by Tuesday, which is the deadline for him to get approval for a loan from the Federal National Mortgage Association," Smith said.

"We are hopeful that the recalculation based on the new carpenter rate will be within the maximum unit co[illegible]."

Under the Capehart amendment the FHA insures mortgages bought by FNMA, thus making financing more attractive to private lenders. Loans are paid off ultimately by rentals paid by military tenants.

Bateson said that if he gets FHA approval, he will start construction in March. The job will last about two years and 600 to 700 carpenters will be employed, he said.

26 Walk Out on Palmer Hoyt's Little Rock Talk on Segregation

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 11 (AP)—Twenty-six persons walked out on Palmer Hoyt, Denver publisher, in his address to the Arkansas Press Association last night.

Hoyt devoted most of his speech at the annual convention of the Arkansas Press Association to the Little Rock school integration crisis and its effects on United States leadership in the free world.

About 250 persons were present. None applauded while the Denver Post publisher was speaking but a wave of polite clapping followed the address.

State Senator Walks Out.

One of those who walked out was State Senator Tom Allen, publisher of a newspaper in his home town of Brinkley, Ark.

Allen left just after Hoyt said he did not intend to pass judgment on Gov. Orval Faubus, who introduced him. Faubus's action in posting state guardsmen around Little Rock Central High School touched off the integration crisis here.

One of the association's vice presidents, Keith Tudor of Arkadelphia, Ark., left his place at the head table and walked out of the room when Hoyt first mentioned integration.

Faubus remained at the head table throughout the address and applauded briefly when it was over. Then he exchanged pleasantries with Hoyt.

White Student Suspended.

A white girl student reported yesterday that she had been suspended from Central High School because she pushed a Negro girl who got in her way in a corridor.

Darlene Holloway, 17-year-old junior, told her mother that Principal Jess Matthews suspended her immediately after the incident.

Mrs. Fred Gist, mother of Darlene Holloway, said her daughter did not tell her the Negor girl's name. Mrs. Gist said she thought the Negro student also should have been suspended and told newsmen that she would take up the matter with Matthews Monday morning.

Mrs. Gist is a member of the Segregationist League of Central High Mothers.

Nine Negro students attend classes at Central High with about 2000 white pupils. The Negroes have been under protection of troops since Sept. 25, the day after President Eisenhower federalized the Arkansas National Guard and sent 1000 paratroopers to Little Rock to enforce a court order for integration of the big school.

Now only 432 federalized guardsmen are being used in the integration dispute. Recently the Army has been assigning about a dozen soldiers at a time to patrol the campus during class hours.

School Superintendent Virgil T. Blossom yesterday reinstated Minnie Jean Brown, one of the Negro students, who was suspended last month for throwing food at two white boys in the Central High cafeteria.

Two white students were suspended last fall for taking part in minor racial incidents.

Bomb Attempt.

A New Year's eve attempt to bomb the home of the state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was reported yesterday.

L. C. Bates, Negro publisher whose wife heads the state N.A.A.C.P. branch, reported the attempt in the pages of his newspaper, The State Press.

The newspaper said it was the third attempt to bomb the house in the last 10 months.

Bates said someone tried to place a fire bomb under the carport of his home but that the device exploded in the driveway and caused no damage. Bates said he and his wife were home at the time.

WARRANTS AGAINST DRIVER WHO LED 25-MILE CHASE

Edward Eugene Parker, who led police on a 25-mile chase at speeds up to 90 miles an hour Thursday night, yesterday was charged with careless and reckless driving and with operating a motor vehicle without a proper license in warrants issued by Magistrate Joseph W. Murphy at Clayton.

Parker, 18 years old, told St. Louis county police that he had been drinking before the automobile chase. County patrolman Donald Ludwig attempted to stop Parker at U.S. Highway 66 in Florissant, but he fled, driving over roads in North St. Louis county and St. Louis. Three shots were fired at the machine he was driving, one bullet striking the car. by St. Louis police at Chain of Rocks bridge. Eight police cars participated in the chase before Parker was halted at Brown road and U.S. Highway 66.

Parker, who said he lives at 3921 McPherson avenue, said he is absent without leave from Andrews Air Force base, Washington, D.C.

CIVIL SERVICE WEEK SET

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker has proclaimed next week as Civil Service Week in St. Louis, commemorating the seventy-fifth anniversary of the signing of the Federal Civil Service Act.

In the proclamation, the Mayor asked all St. Louisans to "give thought and support to the strengthening of the Federal merit system."

PAINTS SCHOOL TO EASE MIND, HE WON'T GET PAID

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—George T. Smith says he had to get the Harrison Elementary School "off my mind"—so he painted it. School officials said they did not authorize the work and cannot pay for it.

"I got the idea last October," Smith said last night. "I was driving by the school with my wife, and I said I was going to paint that school. I meant I'd bid on it sometime. But the idea kept coming back in my mind. It stayed on my mind every day until mid-December. I was getting an ulcer. I went to a doctor. He said I was worrying, and I knew then I had to get that school off my mind."

So Smith started to paint the outside woodwork trim and doors. He even worked Christmas eve and New Year's eve. When someone at the school mentioned they did not know he was coming to do the work, Smith said "Oh, well, you know how the Government is."

John Riecks, assistant school superintendent in charge of buildings and grounds, said: "We never hired him. We figure the job would have cost between $1000 and $1200. It was a very good job but we can't pay for it."

Smith said he did not plan to do any more unasked-for painting.

BRITISH CONSENT TO BURY H-BOMB DATA REPORTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Washington Post and Times Herald says the Atomic Energy Commission has persuaded Britain to agree to confine a forthcoming announcement of British progress toward taming the H-bomb to the technical pages of a British scientific weekly.

According to the reported agreement, the AEC and the British Atomic Energy Authority will then issue a press release Jan. 24 quoting the article in the weekly, which is called Nature magazine.

"And since the Nature article will be written by the scientists engaged in the actual research on this controlled hydrogen fusion work," the Post says, "the words are expected to be neither understandable nor intriguing to lay readers."

The paper says the British are proud of progress toward harnessing the power of the H-bomb for peaceful purposes and were eager to tell the world about it last October. They were thwarted, the account relates, by the United States Commission headed by Lewis L. Strauss.

The Post continues:

"The British thought the announcement of their scientific progress would have boosted Western prestige at a time when world eyes were fixed on the first Soviet space satellite. They had a press release prepared, on the assumption that the United States, allied with Britain in this research work, would have no objections.

"It can now be stated, however, that AEC Chairman Strauss was adamantly opposed. Officially he wanted the good news to be released at next September's atoms-for-peace conference in Geneva. Unofficially, scientists in this country declare Strauss wanted this country to catch up with the British progress."

Strauss, on Dec. 18, branded as "completely false" any report that the British have "suppressed announcement of success in the control of the fusion reaction at my request."

The Post says there is no quarrel with that statement because by that time it had been agreed the announcement would take the form of the article in Nature magazine.

There is an Anglo-American agreement for approving each other's press releases on fusion work. Strauss declared recently it was designed to "avoid invidious comparisons" as one country's efforts alternately forged ahead of the other's.

MAJOR LANDED 'VOLUNTARILY' ON ALBANIAN FIELD

BELGRADE, Jan. 11 (AP)—United States Air Force Maj. Howard Curran said here today that he voluntarily landed his T-33 jet trainer in Communist Albania after being blown off course with his radio communications broken.

Curran arrived from Albania by Yugoslav commercial airliner, leaving behind his plane which had been reported forced down by Red fighters.

Curran said that when he landed in Albania he did not know that he was over that Communist territory but had to land on the first field he saw, having fuel for only another 10 minutes' flight.

He was "treated very fairly" during his 19 days' stay in Albania, Curran said.

In landing on Dec. 23 his left main landing gear tire burst. Otherwise the plane was undamaged and he could have flown out if he had a new tire, he said.

PRISON ESCAPEE CAPTURED, FBI AGENT SHOT IN SCUFFLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Albert Joseph Kostal, prison escape artist who made his last break from a Colorado jail when awaiting trial on a murder charge, was captured by FBI agents last night at a subway entrance near Times Square.

Kostal drew a pistol on FBI Agent Frank H. Gerrity and shot him in the leg. Gerrity grappled with Kostal and the pistol went off again, this time wounding Kostal in the leg. Neither man was seriously hurt. Two other FBI agents subdued the fugitive.

Kostal, 37, had been the object of a nationwide manhunt since last Nov. 21 when he broke out of Jefferson county jail in Golden, Colo., with Arthur Watson. Both were being held in the killing of Raymond Isley, a special deputy sheriff, in an attempted robbery of a supermarket in Wheat Ridge, a suburb of Denver. Watson later gave himself up.

FUNERAL WILL BE MONDAY FOR ARTHUR T. LEONHARDT

Funeral services for Arthur T. Leonhardt, treasurer for 60 years of the old Saxony Flour Mills, will be at 10 a.m. Monday at the Parker-Aldrich undertaking establishment, 15 West Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Leonhardt, 88 years old, died Thursday at his home at 106 Trevillian avenue, Glendale. He had been under treatment for a respiratory condition. Saxony Flour Mills, which was at Third and Lombard streets, ceased operations about five years ago. Survivors include a son, Milton R. Leonhardt of Glendale.

Moscow Says Laika Showed Weightlessness Is Not Harmful

LONDON, Jan. 11 (UP)—Moscow radio said today the dog sent aloft in Sputnik II had proved that "no harm comes to a living organism" from conditions of weightlessness.

The radio, quoting an article in Soviet Aviation Magazine, reported the first results of the information radioed back to earth from monitoring instruments aattached to Laika, the earth's first space traveler.

From an analysis of Laika's pulse, blood pressure and respiration, the article said "extremely important conclusions" were reached that "no harm comes to a living organism in conditions of imponderability (weightlessness)."

Scientists have been unable to predict the effect of continued weightlessness on the physical and mental reactions of man, since the condition can not be duplicated for more than a few seconds in experiments.

Soviet Aviation said no disturbance of co-ordination in Laika's movements were registered during the period the dog lived in the satellite orbiting the earth.

It attributed the continued co-ordination to eyesight, which it said "compensated to a certain degree the disturbance of locomotive power" in the weightless state.

Laika was shot into space in Sputnik II on Nov. 4. She lived about a week, according to Russian scientists. The satellite is still circling the earth.

MARINE CONVICTED OF CRUELTY IN BRIG

YOKOSUKA, Japan, Jan. 11 (AP)—A general court-martial convicted Marine Sgt. Robert J. Barbuti today on nine charges of cruelty to prisoners in a Navy brig. The court acquitted him on 17 other cruelty counts and two charges of assault.

The court said it would sentence Barbuti Monday. The 23-year-old Marine from Schenectady, N.Y., faces a possible sentence of nine years imprisonment, one for each count on which he was convicted. The case will be reviewed automatically.

The eight-officer court deliberated for five hours.

Denied All Cruelty Charges.

Specifications on which the former assistant brig warden was convicted included hitting prisoners in the stomach, stepping on bare feet and slapping inmates in the brig as Sasebo, Japan.

Barbuti was acquitted of charges that he had pushed a pencil up a prisoner's nose until it bled, squirted shaving cream into a sailor's mouth and ears, banged inmates' heads together and threatened prisoners with bayonet and pistol.

Barbuti had denied all the cruelty charges.

In yesterday's summation, Barbuti's civilian defense attorney depicted the defendant as a "strict disciplinarian" but pleaded that the testimony against him was "exaggerated and built up."

One More to Be Tried.

The Navy prosecutor, Lt. Leo F. O'Brien of Kansas City, Mo., argued that the alleged offenses "constitute more than cruelty, but cruelty is the only word we have."

Cruelty, O'Brien said, had been proved "time and again" by the testimony. He said there was the "pattern for fear, the pattern of brutality" in the brig.

Barbuti was the fifteenth of 16 former brig guards to be court-martialed. Eight were convicted and six acquitted of lesser charges but the Navy Pacific command in Hawaii reversed four convictions. The last trial, of Sgt. Adrian A. McLane, 23, of Philadelphia, is scheduled to begin next week.

HAMMARSKJOLD TO HOLD TALKS WITH SELWYN LLOYD

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 11 (UP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold will fly to London Wednesday for a one-night conference with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, the United Nations announced today. The announcement said the visit would afford the two leaders an opportunity for "a general review and an exchange of views on U.N. affairs."

Lloyd has conferred with Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik, formerly chief of Russia's U.N. delegation, twice in the last week. Malik presumably sought clarification of the partial indorsement by British Prime Minister Macmillan of a new "summit conference."

This was expected also to occupy a major part of the Hammarskjold-Lloyd talks. Hammarskjold also was expected to seek information on Britain's current stand on disarmament problems.

MONNET FLYING TO U.S. TO SEEK LOANS TO FRANCE

PARIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—French economic expert Jean Monnet will fly to Washington tonight with high hopes of raising most of half a billion dollars France needs in 1958 to back up a drive for financial stability.

Monnet will not ask for direct aid from the United States. Officials here realize that could probably not be obtained at this time. He is likely to ask for postponement of interest payments due on existing French debts to the United States Government and the Export-Import Bank. And he will raise all the foreign credits he can from international institutions where American good will can largely influence success.

To gain that good will Monnet will carry evidence he hopes will show that French inflation is at an end and financing can now be done through savings instead of inflation.

EAST ST. LOUIS MAN FOUND DEAD IN HIS BEDROOM

Clarence Haynes, a barber, was found dead yesterday in the bedroom of his home, 518 North Nineteenth street, East St. Louis. He had a bullet wound in the head, and a revolver was in his hand.

His son, Carl Haynes of Millstadt, Ill., said he went to his father's home and found the body after failing to arouse him by telephone the previous day. Clarence Haynes, 62 years old, had been in ill health, police were told.

UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFIT CLAIMS HIT 8-YEAR HIGH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (UP)—More jobless Americans were claiming unemployment benefits two weeks ago than at any time in almost eight years, Government figures showed.

A Labor Department report late yesterday estimated that 2,360,400 workers sought federal-state unemployment insurance in the last week of 1957. This was the highest total since 2,391,000 in February 1950. There were 1,467,500 insured unemployed during the corresponding period a year ago.

The department said the year-end increase followed the seasonal pattern but was "substantially larger than usual." Every state but two reported increases in insured unemployment. Most blamed it on widespread plant shut-downs for inventory, production cutbacks in metals, machinery and auto manufacturing and further slackening of outdoor work.

Meantime, the Treasury reported it cashed in more Series E and H savings bonds than it sold in 1957 but that the rate of redemptions slackened in the closing months of the year.

DEFENDS RUSH-HOUR BUS LOADING IN CENTER LANE

Discontinuance of the practice of loading express busses in the center lane of Washington avenue during rush hours would slow all bus service, encourage more automobile use, increase congestion and hurt downtown St. Louis, John C. Baine, president of St. Louis Public Service Co., asserted yesterday.

He vigorously opposed the suggestion of Henry S. Miller, director of streets, that the transit firm either load express busses at the curb or reroute the vehicles through the congested section.

When streetcar tracks in Washington avenue were paved over last fall, Baine said, the company wanted to repaint safety zone lines on the new pavement, but was told to wait until the city had painted in the necessary center and lane lines. While the center line has been completed, the lane demarcations have not been painted, Baine pointed out. He said center loading means a time saving of about 10 minutes daily for express passengers as well as a speed-up of local bus service.

SENTENCED FOR 'BORROWING' FROM MARINE RECRUITS

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 11 (AP)—A general court-martial sentenced a decorated Marine Corps veteran of World War II and Korea to four years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge yesterday.

Staff Sgt. Frank J. Humphrey, son of Mrs. Nell Humphrey of Cherokee, Ia., was convicted of 22 counts of "borrowing" money from recruits at the Marine Corps recruit depot in violation of regulations.

The sentence by the six-man court also included a forfeiture of pay allowances, totaling $339 a month, and reduction in rank to private. The maximum prison term could have been 44 years.

Twenty-two privates testified that Humphrey had "borrowed" sums ranging from $5 to $46 from them and had not repaid any of it.

In addition to her son, she is survived by a son-in-law, John J. Nangle, president of the Utilities Insurance Co. here and former Democratic national committeeman from Missouri.

—Associated Press Wirephoto.
Low temperatures and areas of precipitation expected tonight.

Mild weather prevailed again today in the St. Louis area, and should continue through Monday with little change in temperature. The Weather Bureau said there is a chance of rain tomorrow and predicted temperatures ranging from the lows 30s to about 50.

Another thrust of cold Canadian air entered the northern Lakes region, sending temperatures early today to almost zero in extreme northern Minnesota and Wisconsin. The cold air is expected to move eastward fast enough so that the St. Louis area will be relatively unaffected.

Cold weather is expected again tonight in the northeast. Cold wave warnings were issued for interior portions of eastern New York and parts of Pennsylvania. Temperatures are expected to drop to zero as far south as central Pennsylvania, with readings below zero in parts of northern New England.

Scattered light snow was reported early today from northern California into the central Rockies. Rain this morning along the north Pacific coast was light. More rain is expected in the Pacific northwest tomorrow, with snow in the northern Plains states, Lakes region and parts of New England.

Nationally, temperatures today were relatively mild. However, the mercury dropped to a low of 12 below zero at Fraser, Colo. In Missouri minimums ranged from 20 at Farmington Housemen and patrons are intent on variety of games featured in the Sans Souci, gambling casino operated by Santos Trafficante in Havana. Casino is one of a number flourishing in the Cuban capital, where the Batista government is encouraging the establishment of a tourist attraction to rival Nevada's and where ethical operators are vieing with New York underworld figures for gambling concessions. New York authorities seek to question Trafficante about reports hoodlum Albert Anastasia was negotiating for one of the concessions at the time of his murder last October.

WRITERS TO INSPECT VOODOO FIGHTER

The F-101B Voodoo, newest and fastest all-weather fighter interceptor plane designed for defense of the North American continent will be rolled out at Lambert-St. Louis Field Wednesday for close inspection by midwestern aviation writers.

Manufactured by McDonnell Aircraft Corp., the plane is a two-place craft powered by twin jet engines. It will be equipped with the MB-1 air-to-air atomic rocket which is said to be capable of downing entire formations of enemy bombers. It also will carry conventional rockets and missiles.

Although actual speed performance of the F-101B Voodoo has not been disclosed, its ability to intercept targets at faster than supersonic speed was indicated when its sister aircraft, the F-101A(set a world record of 1207.6 miles an hour in California last month.

The F-101B was given its first public demonstration here last May when delegates to the annual convention of the Aviation Writers' Association were permitted to see the plane in flight. The display next week, to be held at the Naval Air Station, will afford the first close inspection. Equipment to be carried by the plane also will be shown, and McDonnell will demonstrate the almost vertical climb of the craft.

Top operational officers of the North American Air Defense Command will come here to explain the role to be assigned the interceptor and the status of air defense in St. Louis, Kansas City, Chicago, Milwaukee and other midwestern cities.

The group will include Maj. Gen. Harvey T. Alness, director of operations for NORAD; R. Adm. Walter F. Rodee, commander of naval forces, NORAD; Maj. Gen. Eugene Cardwell, commanding general of the Fifth Regional Army Air Defense Command, and Group Capt. W. C. McNeill, Royal Canadian Air Force.

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

A LETTER has come from Patricia Louise Evans, saying:

"I am 15 years old and have made the study of insects my hobby. I read your column every time I get a chance, and find is very interesting. I would like to know if you would write a column on the order Odonata."

In plain language, Patricia wishes me to write about dragonflies and damsel flies.

THE DRAGONFLY is one of the best friends we have in the insect world. It captures vast numbers of pests, including mosquitoes and houseflies.

A dragonfly has two pairs of wings, one pair behind the other. The four wings are of about equal size.

A dragonfly has five eyes, but three of them are tiny. The other two, one on each side, cover more than half the surface of the good-sized head.

This insect needs sharp eyesight and rapidly-moving wings. It captures insects which are flying about. Tests indicate that it can fly at the rate of a mile a minute. It can see a small object at a distance of 60 feet.

OFTEN the coloring of a dragonfly is beautiful. It may have a green brown or blue body along with its lacy wings. The wings are extended while the insect is at rest.

Dragonflies lay their eggs in water. Their young spend a long period under the surface, sometimes four or five years. They breathe with gills. Even the young are valuable; they destroy large numbers of mosquito larvae.

Damsel flies are a suborder, and are similar to ordinary dragonflies in most ways. Damsel flies, however, fold their wings while at rest.

For NATURE section of your scrapbook.
